Election Saturday on Arlington South School bond issue

The special election to vote on an additional $100,000 bond issue for the proposed addition to the South School will be held on Saturday, July 20, from 12 noon to 7:00 p. m. at the village hall.

This bond issue, together with the issue approved by the voters on March 16, would make available the sum of $285,000 for the completion of this project. Bids opened publicly by the Board of Education Friday, June 28, indicated that the total of low bids on the general work, heating and ventilation, plumbing, wiring, and special items is $267,000. By setting the total for the two issues at $285,000, $18,000 would be available for architect's fees and movable equipment.

Bonds retire in 5 years

Maturities of this additional bond issue are arranged so that it will be completely retired within the next five years. This would result, the Board of Education points out, in an increase of a little less than twenty cents per hundred dollars of assessed valuation or eight dollars on a home with an assessed valuation of $4,000.

The Board of Education also points out that they attempted, in the case of the original bond issue, to make a conservative estimate of the cost of the addition, not wishing to bond the district for more than was absolutely necessary to complete the project.

Bids on this and similar projects reveal, as do sale prices on homes throughout this area, that building costs have risen very considerably. The growth of the community, the crowded condition of the schools, and the prospects of even higher building costs have led the Board of Education to submit this additional bond issue now.

Bonds to draw 2½%

These bonds, as is true in the case of the earlier bond issue, have a maximum authorized rate of 2½%, but it is expected that the rate of interest will be even lower than this maximum. Low interest rates compensate, in part, for higher building costs.

Big stakes at Arlington in final week

Arlington Park goes into the final stages of its great 36 day meeting during the next ten days and presents in the final stages of its meeting some of the richest stakes of the season. This Saturday's program is headlined by the famous Arlington handicap for an added purse of $50,000 for 3 year olds and up.

This big race will bring together the greatest handicap stars in the country and the mile and a quarter test should be one of the finest races of the year. As a co-feature to the Arlington the Lassie stakes for 2 year old fillies for a $25,000 purse and over the 6 furlong course will see the matching of the greatest filly youngsters in the land.

Closing day July 27

During next week Arlington Park offers the greatest week's stake offerings to be found anywhere in the country. On Wednesday, July 24, the Primer stakes for 3 year old colts and geldings for a purse of $20,000 will be contested at 6 furlongs. Thursday the historic Matron stakes for fillies and mares, 3 years old and up, will be run at one mile for a purse of $30,000. And on Saturday, July 27, the closing day of Arlington Park's most successful season, the historic Arlington Classic will be run.

This race is for three year olds at one and a quarter miles for an added purse of $80,000 and a total value of probably $100,000. This race will see Assault, the horse of the year, in action at Arlington in an effort to annex another big stake event to his already imposing list of victories, including the Kentucky derby, the Preakness and the Belmont stakes.

As a companion feature to the classic the Grassland stakes will be contested over the beautiful turf course at one and three sixteenth miles for 3 year olds and up for a purse of $25,000.

All of these feature races will bring together the finest horses in their class in the country and will see some of the most famous riders in action. With the presentation of this stellar program during the closing days of its meeting, Arlington Park will bring to a close its greatest and most successful race meeting.

New records

New attendance records and new mutuel records have been continually hung up during the meeting and new records have been set or old ones equaled on the track.

When the curtain rings down on the final race of the meeting the interest shown in the sport and the records established will have gone a long ways toward making the dream of the Arlington Park management a reality, "To make Chicago the racing center of America."

Band concert at Arlington this Friday night

The Arlington Heights summer band will present another in a series of concerts Friday evening at 8 o'clock in Recreation Park with an interesting program, including many favorites, scheduled for the evening's entertainment.

The concert will open with the stirring march, "His Honor", by Fillmore, an overture, "Pomona", by Holmes, and a surprise encore.

An opportunity for the audience to participate will be presented when the band plays "In The Good Old Summertime". The march song of "My Maryland", "Your Land and My Land" follows. Then the band goes modern with "'Til the End of Time".

Selections from the Mikado by Sullivan will follow, with final selections of "Pavanne" and "Stepping Along".

500 new taxpayers in Wheeling township

Personal property valuations in the country towns of Cook county have dropped two million dollars, John S. Clark, Cook county assessor, announced this week. It is a different story in some of the northwest towns.

In Wheeling township Assessor Theodore Studtman has added over 500 names to the personal property list this year. This is largely due to the many new residents throughout the township. With these people paying their proportionate share of taxes, other taxpayers will benefit. According to the figures released by the county assessor, the increase in dollars and cents in Wheeling is $130,000.

Palatine township gains

Palatine township shows an increase of $30,000. Elk Grove shows a drop of $15,000 Schaumburg a drop of $8,000 while Hanover has an increase of $42,000. Barrington has an increase of $17,000.

Clark attributes the decline to a reduction in inventories of both raw and finished materials at industrial plants caused by curtailment of war activities. The valuations are of April 1, 1946, and taxes on the property will be due May 1, 1947.

The figures for northwest towns are:

	1945 Revised	1946 V'uations
Bar.	$ 735,106	$ 752,611
Elk Grove	503,849	488,659
Hanover	477,432	519,059
Leyden	4,169,444	5,720,076
Maine	3,947,618	3,910,058
Northfield	1,772,170	1,668,916
Palatine	1,216,687	1,245,942
S'burg	278,196	265,558
Wheeling	1,449,436	1,581,531

District winners in Legion ball win again here

BULLETIN: The Poole Fords beat St. Mary's, 15-2, Wednesday eve to win the first round of the county touhney.

The Merle Guild legion nine of Arlington Heights unleashed another ruthless hitting attack to down a fighting bunch of youngsters from St. Mary's orphanage 14-0. The game was called after five innings by agreement.

A home run by Lester Happ to the bushes in left field was one of the many features of the "Fords" attack. Jim Miller, the Fords first baseman, clouted a lusty four-bagger with the bases full, but only three runs tallied as Miller missed third base.

The two teams play at Des Plaines Wednesday night and this game may be all that is necessary for the Fords to move into the semi finals of Cook county. Their opponents will be either Winnetka or the Furniture Mart Post of Chicago.

Mayor gets quick action from Northwestern; 'try again!' mayor

Mayor Goedke got some quick action from the Northwestern railroad when he asked why the roadbed had not been treated this year against dust. Within two days the roadbed had been properly treated.

Now if the mayor will ask the company to lay modern steel crossing plates at Vail and other streets, within the village, he will have the thanks of autoists as well as the women folks who, waiting for trains at the depot, were being covered with dust every time a fast train went through town.

Arlington gets another air field promise

There may be a saying that everything comes to him who waits and eventually the village of Arlington Heights may get the navy airport, but not just yet.

While waiting for the permanent assignment of the airport property to the village a request was forwarded to Washington with the approval of the Chicago office of the War Assets Administration for an interim permit for use of the field until its ultimate transfer to the municipality.

The navy had previously closed its training program June 30, but has since reopened such training for sixty days. Word of the delay was received by the municipal airport committee from Washington this week in a letter that reads in part:

"The Navy Department has informed this office that this property is not surplus and that they intend to continue its operation. Accordingly, it will not be possible for this office to issue an interim permit at this time.

"We will appreciate it if you will advise the city however, that their application is being made a matter of record and every consideration will be given to their request if and when this airfield is declared surplus."

Arthur W. Manley, director
Airports Division, Office of
Real Property Disposal.

Others interested

The delay is not expected to lessen the chances of the village of Arlington Heights ultimately securing the property. A number of large corporations of the airport industry have been in contact with the Arlington Hts. committee seeking leases, office and store space, etc., that will put them in position to service planes that will use the airport. In fact, inquiries have come from a governmental agency connected with civil aeronautics.

"These corporations are very much interested," states Chairman Behrens, "and the committee is doubly certain today that the field has a great future after it is released by the navy."

Industrial district still isolated

Just when Arlington Heights village board thought it had found a way to provide direct access to the new industrial district on East Davis street, more property owners registered their objection.

Leroy Huebner, 136 S. Belmont street, appeared before the board Monday evening, representing property owners on South Belmont, Pine and Haddow and voiced an objection to the proposed outlet for Mayfair Foods through George street extended.

He was assured that the published statement in the Herald that the purchase by the village of the lot at the east end of George street was in error and that the future opening of that street was not for the purpose of aiding Mayfair Foods.

Mr. Huebner stated that large trucks passing through his residential district would endanger the lives of children. He suggested that a roadway be provided from the plant directly south to Central road, but was told that such a roadway would be outside the corporate limits.

At present Rockwell street through Scarsdale is being occasionally used by such trucks, to which the Scarsdale residents object.

Another phone but still the same old number

Paddock Publications are this week offering another phone for the convenience of their customers, though the "same old number" of Arl. Hts. 1520 still holds true.

Heretofore, two Arlington Heights and one Palatine trunk line were connected with the publication office. A third Arlington phone has now been added to the switchboard.

Local subscribers can call Arl. Hts. 1520 and they will automatically be connected with one of three trunk lines, or Palatine 10 to reach the local office. The additional lines to authorized sub-offices in Bensenville and Roselle are still in operation, Bensenville 266 and Roselle 4251.

"Just another chance for a wrong number when I call 'Schlachtfest's Market", said one meat hopeful.

Kehe heads new committee to solve parking problem

Mayor Al Goedke, Arlington Heights, thinks that the all-day parking question has been kicked around about long enough and it is time that something be done about it. He appointed a new committee Monday evening, the members of which, he said, are the kind that will not side-step the issue and will bring action.

First named on the committee is Fred Kehe. Others are Robert Beaty, Wm. F. Meyer, Jr., Wm. Franke, Ernest Malzahn and the Mayor himself. In announcing the appointment the mayor said that all-day parking is certainly here to stay and it is time to quit pussy-footing and solve the problem.

Palatine leads this area in all home building

All building in the Chicago region in the first half of this year exceeded by more than seven and a half million dollars the amount reported for the entire year of 1945. The permit totals which may be compared are $141,754,834 for the past six months and $134,131,230 for the twelve months of 1945.

Even more striking is the home building progress indicated in the tabulations of permits issued. In 1945 11,130 dwelling units of all types were started and the established cost was $60,537,490. But in the first six months of this year permits were issued for 9,788 units valued at $65,417,558. In the half year of 1946 the volume of home building inaugurated exceeded by five million dollars all that was done in the whole year of 1945.

It is timely to note that the average cost of separate new homes in the suburban towns is $7,913, but a higher average was reached in 1936 with $9,010. The low was in 1943, when the average cost per home was $4,953. These averages are based on annual figures for 1936 to 1945 and semi-annual for 1946.

Leaders in home building for the first six months of this year included Palatine in seventh place with 153 homes, valued at $1,112,233. Arlington Heights is ninth with 109 homes at $912,790, and Mt. Prospect is fifteenth with 91 homes at a value of $847,915.

Home building for the month of June included the following:

Arlington Heights, 5 homes, $43,050.
Bensenville, 4, $26,000.
Des Plaines, 45, $320,100.
Glenview, 7, $76,500.
Mt. Prospect, 15, $149,350.
Northbrook, 2, $23,000.
Northfield, 2, $22,500.
Palatine, 42, $325,300.

A 'skunk' of a story...

When the Arlington police were called to South Evergreen street Thursday night they found the combatants very much subdued and a very skunky smell.

A short time earlier a resident and an Arlington visitor who was "walking" his landlady's dog had a wordy encounter over the dog. Between the "words" and the fistic encounter, the visitor came across a skunk, killing it with the dog chain. He was carrying the dead skunk, when suddenly a man's fist went past the visitor's face.

The visitor defended himself with the dead skunk, the smell of which became very much alive. All contestants fled from the scene.

M. R. Warson loses finger in electric saw

M. R. Warson, of Warson Beauty Shop has one less finger on his left hand. While cutting a board late Sunday evening he stumbled and a small finger was severed at the second joint. The thumb was also badly cut, requiring a number of stitches. First aid was given by Dr. Meisenheimer who sent him to the Elmhurst hospital.

Mr. Warson was cutting the boards for some remodeling work that was to be done at the beauty shop. Mr. Warson is not allowing his injury to keep him at home. He is directing the remodeling and expects to resume his regular duties within a short time.

Seek official scale and weighmaster

There seems to be a demand for a certified weighmaster in Arlington Heights. A weight receipt from such a person would facilitate business originating in Arlington Heights. "Such an appointment would give an official standing to weight tickets," Alderman Studtman told the Arlington board Monday evening.

At present a number of local firms engaged in hauling heavy loads are "picked up" by police in other places who reruse to recognize anything except an official weighing receipt.

A number of towns in this area have such a service. The scale formerly owned by the Arlington Elevator & Coal Co., is available if a person can be found to accept the responsibility for its operation.

Ripe peaches July first

Clyde Moffet of Palatine has been enjoying ripe peaches from his own trees since about July 1. This is something of a record for this locality to have ripe peaches this early in the season and rivals the performance of the big peach country of southern Illinois.

The peaches are small and are grown on a small tree but the flavor is delicious and the tree is loaded with fruit.

'Welcome' to Arlington

Edward L. Coburn, late of Cairo, Iowa, will occupy on Monday the house he purchased last December at 1609 West Brown, Arlington Park. When the reporter told Mr. Coburn that he was Arlington's newest resident, he replied, "I feel like an old timer. I have been waiting months for the completion of that house. I had pictures in my mind of all the vegetables I would raise on my land and I frequently visited Arlington.

"When I see new families moving in all around me I feel as though I am enough an Arlington Heights citizen to take them by the hand and say, 'welcome to Arlington'."

CHILD HIT BY CAR

David Smith, 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. David G. Smith, 28 N. Belmont, has a swollen face but otherwise is none the worse for his experience with an auto Monday morning. He was crossing State road at Wing street when he was struck by a bumper of a car being driven by Louis Seider of Deerfield. He was given immediate medical aid. Skid marks of Seider's car showed for sixty feet.

More property owners in Scarsdale Estates are seeking annexation to Arlington Heights in order to enjoy the municipal services. The latest is the builder of a home to be constructed of Tennessee pink limestone, costing in the neighborhood of possibly $50,000. The owner will be asked to take out a building permit. Legal proceedings for annexation are in progress.

Seeks experienced bookkeeper

There is a job in the municipal building for an experienced bookkeeper. Applications should be made to Wm. Franke or Wm. F. Meyer, treasurer. The business of the village has become so large that a regular bookkeeper is deemed advisable and was authorized at Monday night's meeting.

No half-in-half licenses

The board is adverse to the issuing of half year vehicle licenses while the present yearly price is only $3.50, lower than other villages. New tags for 1947 are to be ordered.

Carter Jenkins, formerly employed by Engineer Allen who laid out the early sewers, has offered to furnish the village two copies of the original sewer surveys. They have been ordered.

The zoning board of appeals recommended a zoning change from residential to commercial of a lot on South State road owned by John Mayer. An acetylene welding outfit is being operated on this property. The board authorized the change.

Appreciate service of community nurse

The clerk read a letter of Supt. Egdorf of the high school expressing the willingness of the high school board to continue through next year its payment of $300 towards the services of Thelma Carroll, the community nurse. Mr. Egdorf praised highly the work of Mrs. Carroll and suggested that she needs an office assistant and with the present growth of the community continuing, it is only a question of time before a second nurse will be required. As Mrs. Carroll is employed by the CTI, the letter was forwarded to that organization.

Presents annual report

Henry C. W. Meyer was authorized to remove the skylight over the fire house which insists on leaking at every heavy rain. Previous attempts to repair it have failed.

E. F. Laurin, village auditor, presented his annual report of corporate funds, which will appear in part in next week's issue. Total income receipts for the last year was $93,735.35, while costs incurred were $79,186.71. The current surplus is $14,548.64.

No improved highway

Grigsby-Allison is still without an improved highway from its shipping and receiving door. The state highway department states that such an improvement for only one manufacturing plant is against its policy and that a greater need for the improvement with benefit to the general public must first be presented.

The highway department is overlooking the fact that many Arlington Heights people are employed at the plant, also that such a road would provide direct access from a large part of the west side of town to the high school building.

Summer mecca

Arlington swim pool serves a full schedule

The Arlington Heights swimming pool has proven a haven to a land locked town like Arlington Heights. Swimming headlines the summer recreational program with dozens of youth from nearby towns plunging in to cool off these hot days.

The pool itself has been kept in top condition for healthful and safe swimming by the conscientious supervision of Al Blume, park superintendent. Swimming weather and water conditions have made attendance an overflowing success.

The synchronized swimming team is progressing favorably with the following showing great promise of ultimate success: Jean Baldwin, Jean Freyermuth, Esther Karstens, Doris Grant, Anita Frase and Marty Carncross. Other girls interested in these practice sessions are urged to contact swim director Vokac.

Intermediate swim group now includes 30 by the addition of the following swimmers:

Carol Mueller, Suzane Franke, Jeannette Kalivoda, Rita Feldinger, Janyce Lewerenz, Janet Seigel, Gloria Haemker, Shirley Anderson, Barbara Felker, Jeannet Hoffman, Alice McNeeley, Nancy Scott, Rose Carpenter, Adelyn Ladendorf, Barbara Sanborn, John Nehrbass, John Cooper, Walter Grever, Donnie Jones, Peter Martino, Rodney Peltier, Daniel Stephan, Terry Tanner, Ronald Wille, Jimme Lee, Duane Thompson, Jack Lee, Wayne Rolfs, Ray Stockwell, Charles Kopfel and Phil Egdorf.

The above named have passed beginners' tests and are now endeavoring to pass skills into the next grading division. Enrollment in the boys beginners' class has been steadily growing, and includes the following youngsters:

Plenty of prizes at Wheeling Days this week end

This is home-coming week for Wheeling, as the Chamber of Commerce and volunteer fire dept. are hosts at the 19th annual Wheeling Day celebration. No efforts have been spared to make this first celebration since V-J day a big succes, and committees have been at work for months to insure a plenteous supply of many items still hard to get.

The grand prizes which will be presented at midnight Sunday are a 1946 Ford Super Deluxe, a combination radio and phonograph, an electric washer and a floor lamp. The bingo game will offer unusually attractive prizes to the lucky players.

Three rides will bring thrills to the younger generation. An added feature for the children will be the program of races to be held Sunday afternoon beginning at 2 o'clock, and three prizes will be awarded for each race.

Music for dancing will be furnished by the "Pretzel Benders", well known as musicians and entertainers. The refreshment committee promises plenty of food and drinks to keep every one happy.

Proceeds will aid in the purchase of a much needed new fire engine.

Plan roller skating party for youth center

Attention all Arlington Heights youth center members! A roller skating party at Elgin for your pleasure has been planned for this Thursday night, July 18. Bus transportation will be available and the cost of $1.00 per person includes transportation and skating costs. Members may bring guests and the busses will leave the field house at 7 o'clock sharp.

A moonlight cruise on Lake Michigan has been planned for Saturday, July 20. Any members interested in going should contact Muriel Mills. The charge will be $2 per person, including bus transportation.

$260,000 high school bond issue sold at 1¾ per cent interest

The $260,000 bond issue, to cover the proposed addition to the Arlington Heights township high school, has been awarded to a syndicate headed by Harriman Ripley company of Chicago, at an interest rate of 1¾ per cent, plus a cash premium of $3,068 and accrued interest to September 1.

This represents the lowest cost to the tax payers at which any local project has ever been financed.

The award was made following the opening of bids at a regular meeting of the board of education held Tuesday, July 9.

Final detailed plans and specifications are being completed by the architect, Childs and Smith, and work should be under way by late August or early September. In the meantime temporary class room quarters have been set up, pending the completion of the wing sometime during the fall term.

Since the resignation of principal M. F. Egdorf, the board of education has been reviewing applications and credentials, and it is thought that within the week the announcement of a successor will be made.

Three injured when autoist's foot slips

Three were sent to the Palatine hospital last Thursday because the foot of an autoist slipped off the brake and pressed down the accelerator.

The injured are Roy Bennett, Palatine, whose foot slipped, Arthur Magnuwsen, Barrington, who has a broken jaw bone, and his daughter, Jean, who has a broken collar bone.

Des Plaines woman killed by fall

Mrs. Arthur Schulte, 56, 730 Arlington ave., Des Plaines, was killed Wednesday morning when she fell down a flight of steps in her home. The funeral will be held at the Oehler funeral home Saturday.

Mystery surrounds man injured at Arlington Park

A man of Polish descent was found Monday afternoon in the parking lot at Arlington Park Jockey Club. He was taken to St. Joseph's hospital, Elgin, where it was found that he had a skull fracture. It is presumed that the injury came from a fall. The police are still investigating.

Red Wings vs. Glen Ellyn on Heights field Sunday

Lutheran Mission Crusaders rally at Camp Reinberg Sunday

Lutheran Mission Crusaders will hold Annual Mission Festival at Camp Reinberg (Deer Grove) Sunday afternoon, July 21 at 2:30 p.m. Camp Reinberg is located on Quentin Road a short distance north of Dundee Road.

This organization due to the war, tire and gasoline rationing were unable to celebrate their mission festivals the past several years, but since peace has again been restored, they resolved to again celebrate on July 21.

The sermon will be delivered by the Rev. Herbert A. Heinemann of Barrington. Assisting in the service will be the Rev. Henry Heise, Waukegan and the Rev. R. T. Eissfeldt, Sycamore. The service will be held out-of-doors. In case of inclement weather it will be held in the large recreation hall.

Refreshments will be on sale. There is plenty of room for picnic parties and groups can remain until dark.

Organized in 1939 they have a membership of several hundred located in Chicago and twenty congregations in the western and northwestern suburbs. Their chief fuction is to materially assist new mission churches and schools. Since their organizing they have been instrumental in supplying many new mission places with equipment such as pews, chairs, pianos, organs, baptismal fonts, school desks, teachers desks, blackboards, window shades, etc., and a few months ago contributed $500.00 to the building fund of the Church of Apostles located on Mannheim road and Fullerton ave., who are contemplating erecting a new school.

Meetings are held every third Tuesday of the month at the Mt. Prospect Lutheran school. The Rev. J. E. A. Mueller of Mt. Prospect is the Spiritual Adviser and Mr. Wm. J. Bendien of Arlington Heights is the President.

An extensive campaign is now under way to increase the membership to several thousand, the membership being open to all Lutheran Laymen of the Missouri Synod.

Arlington has its first polio this season

John B. Gregg, 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Gregg, 523 South Belmont ave., Arlington Hgts., is in the Evanston hospital with a case of polio. Dr. Pisczek, head of the County Health Department, informed the Herald Tuesday that there have been eleven cases of polio in the county this year. Ten of the cases have been paid. There were only three cases last year.

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS HERALD

VOLUME 19, NUMBER 47 | Published Every Friday by H. C. PADDOCK SONS | Entered as second class matter under act of March 3, 1879, at Arlington Heights, Ill. | ARLINGTON HEIGHTS, ILL. | FRIDAY, JULY 19, 1946 | 2 SECTIONS — 16 PAGES | $2.50 PER YEAR

Election Saturday on Arlington South School bond issue

The special election to vote on an additional $100,000 bond issue for the proposed addition to the South School will be held on Saturday, July 20, from 12 noon to 7:00 p. m. at the village hall.

This bond issue, together with the issue approved by the voters on March 16, would make available the sum of $285,000 for the completion of this project. Bids opened publicly by the Board of Education Friday, June 28, indicated that the total of low bids on the general work, heating and ventilation, plumbing, wiring, and special items is $267,000. By setting the total for the two issues at $285,000, $18,000 would be available for architect's fees and movable equipment.

Bonds retire in 5 years

Maturities of this additional bond issue are arranged so that it will be completely retired within the next five years. This would result, the Board of Education points out, in an increase of a little less than twenty cents per hundred dollars of assessed valuation or eight dollars on a home with an assessed valuation of $4,000.

The Board of Education also points out that they attempted, in the case of the original bond issue, to make a conservative estimate of the cost of the addition, not wishing to bond the district for more than was absolutely necessary to complete the project.

Bids on this and similar projects reveal, as do sale prices on homes throughout this area, that building costs have risen very considerably. The growth of the community, the crowded condition of the schools, and the prospects of even higher building costs have led the Board of Education to submit this additional bond issue now.

Bonds to draw 2½%

These bonds, as is true in the case of the earlier bond issue, have a maximum authorized rate of 2½%, but it is expected that the rate of interest will be even lower than this maximum. Low interest rates compensate, in part, for higher building costs.

Band concert at Arlington this Friday night

The Arlington Heights summer band will present another in a series of concerts Friday evening at 8 o'clock in Recreation Park with an interesting program, including many favorites, scheduled for the evening's entertainment.

The concert will open with the stirring march, "His Honor", by Fillmore, an overture, "Pomona", by Holmes, and a surprise encore.

An opportunity for the audience to participate will be presented when the band plays "In The Good Old Summertime". The march song of "My Maryland", "Your Land and My Land" follows. Then the band goes modern with "'Til the End of Time".

Selections from the Mikado by Sullivan will follow, with final selections of "Pavanne" and "Stepping Along".

Big stakes at Arlington in final week

Arlington Park goes into the final stages of its great 36 day meeting during the next ten days and presents in the final stages of its meeting some of the richest stakes of the season. This Saturday's program is headlined by the famous Arlington handicap for an added purse of $50,000 for 3 year olds and up.

This big race will bring together the greatest handicap stars in the country and the mile and a quarter test should be one of the finest races of the year. As a co-feature to the Arlington the Lassie stakes for 2 year old fillies for a $25,000 purse and over the 6 furlong course will see the matching of the greatest filly youngsters in the land.

Closing day July 27

During next week Arlington Park offers the greatest week's stake offerings to be found anywhere in the country. On Wednesday, July 24, the Primer stakes for 2 year old colts and geldings for a purse of $20,000 will be contested at 6 furlongs. Thursday the historic Matron stakes for fillies and mares, 3 years old and up, will be run at one mile for a purse of $30,000. And on Saturday, July 27, the closing day of Arlington Park's most successful season, the historic Arlington Classic will be run.

This race is for three year olds at one and a quarter miles for an added purse of $60,000 and a total value of probably $100,000. This race will see Assault, the horse of the year, in action at Arlington in an effort to annex another big stake event to his already imposing list of victories, including the Kentucky derby, the Preakness and the Belmont stakes.

As a companion feature to the classic the Grassland stakes will be contested over the beautiful turf course at one and three sixteenth miles for 3 year olds and up for a purse of $25,000.

All of these feature races will bring together the finest horses in their class in the country and will see some of the most famous riders in action. With the presentation of this stellar program during the closing days of its meeting, Arlington Park will bring to a close its greatest and most successful race meeting.

New records

New attendance records and new mutuel records have been continually hung up during the meeting and new records have been set or old ones equaled on the track.

When the curtain rings down on the final race of the meeting the interest shown in the sport and the records established will have gone a long ways toward making the dream of the Arlington Park management a reality, "To make Chicago the racing center of America."

500 new taxpayers in Wheeling township

Personal property valuations in the country towns of Cook county have dropped two million dollars, John S. Clark, Cook county assessor, announced this week. It is a different story in some of the northwest towns.

In Wheeling township Assessor Theodore Studtman has added over 500 names to the personal property list this year. This is largely due to the many new residents throughout the township. With these people paying their proportionate share of taxes, other taxpayers will benefit. According to the figures released by the county assessor, the increase in dollars and cents in Wheeling is $130,000.

Palatine township gains

Palatine township shows an increase of $30,000. Elk Grove shows a drop of $15,000 Schaumburg a drop of $8,000 while Hanover has an increase of $42,000. Barrington has an increase of $17,000.

Clark attributes the decline to a reduction in inventories of both raw and finished materials at industrial plants caused by curtailment of war activities. The valuations are of April 1, 1946, and taxes on the property will be due May 1, 1947.

The figures for northwest towns are:

	1945 Revised	1946 V'uations
Bar.	$ 735,106	$ 752,611
Elk Grove	503,849	488,659
Hanover	477,432	519,059
Leyden	4,169,444	5,720,076
Maine	3,947,618	3,910,058
Northfield	1,772,170	1,668,916
Palatine	1,216,687	1,245,942
S'burg	278,196	265,558
Wheeling	1,449,436	1,581,531

District winners in Legion ball win again here

BULLETIN: The Poole Fords beat St. Mary's, 15-2, Wednesday eve to win the first round of the county touhney.

The Merle Guild legion nine of Arlington Heights unleashed another ruthless hitting attack to down a fighting bunch of youngsters from St. Mary's orphanage 14-0. The game was called after five innings by agreement.

A home run by Lester Happ to the bushes in left field was one of the many features of the "Fords" attack. Jim Miller, the Fords first baseman, clouted a lusty four-bagger with the bases full, but only three runs tallied as Miller missed third base.

The two teams play at Des Plaines Wednesday night and this game may be all that is necessary for the Fords to move into the semi finals of Cook county. Their opponents will be either Winnetka or the Furniture Mart Post of Chicago.

Mayor gets quick action from Northwestern; 'try again!' mayor

Mayor Goedke got some quick action from the Northwestern railroad when he asked why the roadbed had not been treated this year against dust. Within two days the roadbed had been properly treated.

Now if the mayor will ask the company to lay modern steel crossing plates at Vail and other streets, within the village, he will have the thanks of autoists as well as the women folks who, waiting for trains at the depot, were being covered with dust every time a fast train went through town.

Arlington gets another air field promise

There may be a saying that everything comes to him who waits and eventually the village of Arlington Heights may get the navy airport, but not just yet.

While waiting for the permanent assignment of the airport property to the village a request was forwarded to Washington with the approval of the Chicago office of the War Assets Administration for an interim permit for use of the field until its ultimate transfer to the municipality.

The navy had previously closed its training program June 30, but has since reopened such training for sixty days. Word of the delay was received by the municipal airport committee from Washington this week in a letter that reads in part:

"The Navy Department has informed this office that this property is not surplus and that they intend to continue its operation. Accordingly, it will not be possible for this office to issue an interim permit at this time.

"We will appreciate it if you will advise the city however, that their application is being made a matter of record and every consideration will be given to their request if and when this airfield is declared surplus."

Arthur W. Manley, director
Real Property Disposal.

Others interested

The delay is not expected to lessen the chances of the village of Arlington Heights ultimately securing the property. A number of large corporations of the airport industry have been in contact with the Arlington Hts. committee seeking leases, office and store space, etc., that will put them in position to service planes that will use the airport. In fact, inquiries have come from a governmental agency connected with civil aeronautics.

"These corporations are very much interested," states Chairman Behrens, "and the committee is doubly certain today that the field has a great future after it is released by the navy."

Industrial district still isolated

Just when Arlington Heights village board thought it had found a way to provide direct access to the new industrial district on East Davis street, more property owners registered their objection.

Leroy Huebner, 136 S. Belmont street, appeared before the board Monday evening, representing property owners on South Belmont, Pine and Haddow and voiced an objection to the proposed outlet for Mayfair Foods through George street extended.

He was assured that the published statement in the Herald that the purchase by the village of the lot at the east end of George street was in error and that the future opening of that street was not for the purpose of aiding Mayfair Foods.

Mr. Huebner stated that large trucks passing through his residential district would endanger the lives of children. He suggested that a roadway be provided from the plant directly south to Central road, but was told that such a roadway would be outside the corporate limits.

At present Rockwell street through Scarsdale is being occasionally used by such trucks, to which the Scarsdale residents object.

Another phone but still the same old number

Paddock Publications are this week offering another phone for the convenience of their customers, though the "same old number" of Arl. Hts. 1520 still holds true.

Heretofore, two Arlington Heights and one Palatine trunk line were connected with the publication office. A third Arlington phone has now been added to the switchboard.

Local subscribers can call Arl. Hts. 1520 and they will automatically be connected with one of three trunk lines, or Palatine 10 to reach the local office. The additional lines to authorized sub-offices in Bensenville and Roselle are still in operation, Bensenville 266 and Roselle 4251.

"Just another chance for a wrong number when I call Schlachtfest's Market", said one meat hopeful.

Summer mecca

Arlington swim pool serves a full schedule

The Arlington Heights swimming pool has proven a haven to a land locked town like Arlington Heights. Swimming headlines the summer recreational program with dozens of youth from nearby towns plunging in to cool off these hot days.

The pool itself has been kept in top condition for healthful and safe swimming by the conscientious supervision of Al Blume, park superintendent. Swimming weather and water conditions have made attendance an overflowing success.

Intermediate swim group now includes 30 by the addition of the following swimmers:

Carol Mueller, Suzane Franke, Jeannette Kalivoda, Rita Feldinger, Janyce Lewerenz, Janet Seigel, Gloria Haemker, Shirley Anderson, Barbara Felker, Jeannet Hoffman, Alice McNeeley, Nancy Scott, Rose Carpenter, Adelyn Ladendorf, Barbara Sanborn, John Nehrbass, John Cooper, Walter Grever, Donnie Jones, Peter Martino, Rodney Peltier, Daniel Stephan, Terry Tanner, Ronald Wille, Jimme Lee, Duane Thompson, Jack Lee, Wayne Rolfs, Ray Stockwell, Charles Kopfel and Phil Egdorf.

The above named have passed beginners' tests and are now endeavoring to pass skills into the next grading division. Enrollment in the boys beginners' class has been steadily growing, and includes the following youngsters:

This is home-coming week for Wheeling, as the Chamber of Commerce and volunteer fire dept. are hosts at the 19th annual Wheeling Day celebration. No efforts have been spared to make this first celebration since V-J day a big succes, and committees have been at work for months to insure a plenteous supply of many items still hard to get.

The grand prizes which will be presented at midnight Sunday are a 1946 Ford Super Deluxe, a combination radio and phonograph, an electric washer and a floor lamp. The bingo game will offer unusually attractive prizes to the lucky players.

Three rides will bring thrills to the younger generation. An added feature for the children will be the program of races to be held Sunday afternoon beginning at 2 o'clock, and three prizes will be awarded for each race.

Music for dancing will be furnished by the "Pretzel Benders", well known as musicians and entertainers. The refreshment committee promises plenty of food and drinks to keep every one happy.

Proceeds will aid in the purchase of a much needed new fire engine.

Plan roller skating party for youth center

Attention all Arlington Heights youth center members! A roller skating party at Elgin for your pleasure has been planned for this Thursday night, July 18. Bus transportation will be available and the cost of $1.00 per person includes transportation and skating costs. Members may bring guests and the busses will leave the field house at 7 o'clock sharp.

A moonlight cruise on Lake Michigan has been planned for Saturday, July 20. Any members interested in going should contact Muriel Mills. The charge will be $2 per person, including bus transportation.

Kehe heads new committee to solve parking problem

Mayor Al Goedke, Arlington Heights, thinks that the all-day parking question has been kicked around about long enough and it is time that something be done about it. He appointed a new committee Monday evening, the members of which, he said, are the kind that will not side-step the issue and will bring action.

First named on the committee is Fred Kehe. Others are Robert Beaty, Wm. F. Meyer, Jr., Wm. Franke, Ernest Malzahn and the Mayor himself. In announcing the appointment the mayor said that all-day parking is certainly here to stay and it is time to quit pussy-footing and solve the problem.

Palatine leads this area in all home building

All building in the Chicago region in the first half of this year exceeded by more than seven and a half million dollars the amount reported for the entire year of 1945. The permit totals which may be compared are $141,754,834 for the past six months and $134,131,230 for the twelve months of 1945.

Even more striking is the home building progress indicated in the tabulations of permits issued. In 1945 11,130 dwelling units of all types were started and the established cost was $60,537,490. But in the first six months of this year permits were issued for 9,788 units valued at $65,417,558. In the half year of 1946 the volume of home building inaugurated exceeded by five million dollars all that was done in the whole year of 1945.

It is timely to note that the average cost of separate new homes in the suburban towns is $7,913, but a higher average was reached in 1936 with $9,010. The low was in 1943, when the average cost per home was $4,953. These averages are based on annual figures for 1936 to 1945 and semi-annual for 1946.

Leaders in home building for the first six months of this year included Palatine in seventh place with 153 homes, valued at $1,112,233. Arlington Heights is ninth with 109 homes at $912,790, and Mt. Prospect is fifteenth with 91 homes at a value of $847,915.

Home building for the month of June included the following:

Arlington Heights, 5 homes, $43,050.
Bensenville, 4, $26,000.
Des Plaines, 45, $320,100.
Glenview, 7, $76,500.
Mt. Prospect, 15, $149,350.
Northbrook, 2, $23,000.
Northfield, 2, $22,500.
Palatine, 42, $325,300.

Seek official scale and weighmaster

There seems to be a demand for a certified weighmaster in Arlington Heights. A weight receipt from such a person would facilitate business originating in Arlington Heights. "Such an appointment would give an official standing to weight tickets," Alderman Studtman told the Arlington board Monday evening.

At present a number of local firms engaged in hauling heavy loads are "picked up" by police in other places who refuse to recognize anything except an official weighing receipt.

A number of towns in this area have such a service. The scale formerly owned by the Arlington Elevator & Coal Co., is available if a person can be found to accept the responsibility for its operation.

Ripe peaches July first

Clyde Moffet of Palatine has been enjoying ripe peaches from his own trees since about July 1. This is something of a record for this locality to have ripe peaches this early in the season and rivals the performance of the big peach country of southern Illinois.

The peaches are small and are grown on a small tree but the flavor is delicious and the tree is loaded with fruit.

A 'skunk' of a story...

When the Arlington police were called to South Evergreen street Thursday night they found the combatants very much subdued and a very skunky smell.

A short time earlier a resident and an Arlington visitor who was "walking" his landlady's dog had a wordy encounter over the dog. Between the "words" and the fistic encounter, the visitor came across a skunk, killing it with the dog chain. He was carrying the dead skunk, when suddenly a man's fist went past the visitor's face.

The visitor defended himself with the dead skunk, the smell of which became very much alive. All contestants fled from the scene.

M. R. Warson loses finger in electric saw

M. R. Warson, of Warson Beauty Shop has one less finger on his left hand. While cutting a board late Sunday evening he stumbled and a small finger was severed at the second joint. The thumb was also badly cut, requiring a number of stitches. First aid was given by Dr. Meisenheimer who sent him to the Elmhurst hospital.

Mr. Warson was cutting the boards for some remodeling work that was to be done at the beauty shop. Mr. Warson is not allowing his injury to keep him at home. He is directing the remodeling and expects to resume his regular duties within a short time.

'Welcome' to Arlington

Edward L. Coburn, late of Cairo, Iowa, will occupy on Monday the house he purchased last December at 1609 West Brown, Arlington Park. When the reporter told Mr. Coburn that he was Arlington's newest resident, he replied, "I feel like an old timer. I have been waiting months for the completion of that house. I had pictures in my mind of all the vegetables I would raise on my land and I frequently visited Arlington.

"When I see new families moving in all around me I feel as though I am enough an Arlington Heights citizen to take them by the hand and say, 'welcome to Arlington'."

CHILD HIT BY CAR

David Smith, 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. David G. Smith, 28 N. Belmont, has a swollen face but otherwise is none the worse for his experience with an auto Monday morning. He was crossing State road at Wing street when he was struck by a bumper of a car being driven by Louis Seider of Deerfield. He was given immediate medical aid. Skid marks of Seider's car showed for sixty feet.

More property owners in Scarsdale Estates are seeking annexation to Arlington Heights in order to enjoy the municipal services. The latest is the builder of a home to be constructed of Tennessee pink limestone, costing in the neighborhood of possibly $50,000. The owner will be asked to take out a building permit. Legal proceedings for annexation are in progress.

Seeks experienced bookkeeper

There is a job in the municipal building for an experienced bookkeeper. Applications should be made to Wm. Franke or Wm. F. Meyer, treasurer. The business of the village has become so large that a regular bookkeeper is deemed advisable and was authorized at Monday night's meeting.

No half-in-half licenses

The board is adverse to the issuing of half year vehicle licenses while the present yearly price is only $3.50, lower than other villages. New tags for 1947 are to be ordered.

Carter Jenkins, formerly employed by Engineer Allen who laid out the early sewers, has offered to furnish the village two copies of the original sewer surveys. They have been ordered.

The zoning board of appeals recommended a zoning change from residential to commercial of a lot on South State road owned by John Mayer. An acetylene welding outfit is being operated on this property. The board authorized the change.

Appreciate service of community nurse

The clerk read a letter of Supt. Egdorf of the high school expressing the willingness of the high school board to continue through next year its payment of $300 towards the services of Thelma Carroll, the community nurse. Mr. Egdorf praised highly the work of Mrs. Carroll and suggested that she needs an office assistant and with the present growth of the community continuing, it is only a question of time before a second nurse will be required. As Mrs. Carroll is employed by the CTI, the letter was forwarded to that organization.

Presents annual report

Henry C. W. Meyer was authorized to remove the skylight over the fire house which insists on leaking at every heavy rain. Previous attempts to repair it have failed.

E. F. Laurin, village auditor, presented his annual report of corporate funds, which will appear in part in next week's issue. Total income receipts for the last year was $93,735.35, while costs incurred were $79,186.71. The current surplus is $14,548.64.

No improved highway

Grigsby-Allison is still without an improved highway from its shipping and receiving door. The state highway department states that such an improvement for only one manufacturing plant is against its policy and that a greater need for the improvement with benefit to the general public must first be presented.

The highway department is overlooking the fact that many Arlington Heights people are employed at the plant, also that such a road would provide direct access from a large part of the west side of town to the high school building.

$260,000 high school bond issue sold at 1¾ per cent interest

The $260,000 bond issue, to cover the proposed addition to the Arlington Heights township high school, has been awarded to a syndicate headed by Harriman Ripley company of Chicago, at an interest rate of 1¾ per cent, plus a cash premium of $3,068 and accrued interest to September 1.

This represents the lowest cost to the tax payers at which any local project has ever been financed.

The award was made following the opening of bids at a regular meeting of the board of education held Tuesday, July 9.

Final detailed plans and specifications are being completed by the architect, Childs and Smith, and work should be under way by late August or early September. In the meantime temporary class room quarters have been set up, pending the completion of the wing sometime during the fall term.

Since the resignation of principal M. F. Egdorf, the board of education has been reviewing applications and credentials, and it is thought that within the week the announcement of a successor will be made.

Three injured when autoist's foot slips

Three were sent to the Palatine hospital last Thursday because the foot of an autoist slipped off the brake and pressed down the accelerator.

The injured are Roy Bennett, Palatine, whose foot slipped, Arthur Magnuwsen, Barrington, who has a broken jaw bone, and his daughter, Jean, who has a broken collar bone.

Des Plaines woman killed by fall

Mrs. Arthur Schulte, 56, 730 Arlington ave., Des Plaines, was killed Wednesday morning when she fell down a flight of steps in her home. The funeral will be held at the Oehler funeral home Saturday.

Mystery surrounds man injured at Arlington Park

A man of Polish descent was found Monday afternoon in the parking lot at Arlington Park Jockey Club. He was taken to St. Joseph's hospital, Elgin, where it was found that he had a skull fracture. It is presumed that the injury came from a fall. The police are still investigating.

Red Wings vs. Glen Ellyn on Heights field Sunday

Lutheran Mission Crusaders rally at Camp Reinberg Sunday

Lutheran Mission Crusaders will hold Annual Mission Festival at Camp Reinberg (Deer Grove) Sunday afternoon, July 21 at 2:30 p.m. Camp Reinberg is located on Quentin Road a short distance north of Dundee Road.

This organization due to the war, tire and gasoline rationing were unable to celebrate their mission festivals the past several years, but since peace has again been restored, they resolved to again celebrate on July 21.

The sermon will be delivered by the Rev. Herbert A. Heinemann of Barrington. Assisting in the service will be the Rev. Henry Heise, Waukegan and the Rev. R. T. Eissfeldt, Sycamore. The service will be held out-of-doors. In case of inclement weather it will be held in the large recreation hall.

Refreshments will be on sale. There is plenty of room for picnic parties and groups can remain until dark.

Organized in 1939 they have a membership of several hundred located in Chicago and twenty congregations in the western and northwestern suburbs. Their chief fuction is to materially assist new mission churches and schools. Since their organizing they have been instrumental in supplying many new mission places with equipment such as pews, chairs, pianos, organs, baptismal fonts, school desks, teachers desks, blackboards, window shades, etc., and a few months ago contributed $500.00 to the building fund of the Church of Apostles located on Mannheim road and Fullerton ave., who are contemplating erecting a new school.

Meetings are held every third Tuesday of the month at the Mt. Prospect Lutheran school. The Rev. J. E. A. Mueller of Mt. Prospect is the Spiritual Adviser and Mr. Wm. J. Bendien of Arlington Heights is the President.

An extensive campaign is now under way to increase the membership to several thousand, the membership being open to all Lutheran Laymen of the Missouri Synod.

Arlington has its first polio this season

John B. Gregg, 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Gregg, 523 South Belmont ave., Arlington Hgts., is in the Evanston hospital with a case of polio. Dr. Piszczek, head of the County Health Department, informed the Herald Tuesday that there have been eleven cases of polio in the county this year. Ten of the cases have been mild. There were only three cases last year.

Gambling Blacklist

By the late 1930s, the Monte Carlo casino was probably refusing admittance to more former patrons than any other gambling house in history, having an active black list of 8,000 who had passed a worthless check, picked a pocket, engaged in a brawl, attempted suicide or committed some other unpardonable offense.

Morton Grove days to open this Friday

A sports program with events for men, women and children of all ages will open Morton Grove Days officially at 4 p.m. Friday. The annual summer festival will continue thru Saturday and Sunday afternoons and evenings.

A nightly festival attraction will be a series of water fights between the Morton Grove volunteer fire department and teams from the volunteer departments of surrounding communities. Invitations have been extended to firemen in Des Plaines, Park Ridge, Glenview, Northbrook, Skokie and other villages to compete for cash prizes.

Two softball games have been arranged for Sunday afternoon. Contestants will be two teams from the Morton Grove league and two teams made up of married men from the village.

Rides, refreshment booths and games will be open early Saturday and Sunday afternoons.

The principal award in the Morton Grove festival this year is a Dodge deluxe sedan. Other awards include bicycles, an electric refrigerator and numerous scarce and expensive electrical household gadgets.

Meteorites in Museums

There are about 1,000 meteorites in museums all over the world, ranging in weight from a fraction of an ounce to more than 30 tons.

Potluck luncheon 12:00 noon. After the luncheon an interesting program of recreation has been planned. All women are most cordially invited to attend.

"A friendly church in the City of Good Neighbors most cordially welcomes you!"

Nutritious Food

The sweet potato long valued as an energy food, may also be important for two vitamins—A and C. To get the most in vitamin A, choose the deep-colored varieties that are rich in carotene (pro-vitamin A). Recent tests show that the red or yellow-fleshed varieties are remarkably good sources of vitamin A, but that the pale-fleshed kinds provide less. Sweet potato varieties differ much less in vitamin C than in vitamin A.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, July 14, was:

"SACRAMENT"

The Golden Text was:

"The cup of blessing which we bless, is it not the communion of the blood of Christ? The bread which we break, is it not the communion of the body of Christ?" (I Cor. 10: 16).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible:

"Now the first day of the feast of unleavened bread the disciples came to Jesus, saying unto him, where wilt thou that we prepare for thee to eat the passover? . . . And as they were eating, Jesus took bread, and blessed it, and brake it, and gave it to the disciples, and said, Take, eat; this is my body. And he took the cup, and gave thanks, and gave it to them, saying, Drink ye all of it; For this is my blood of the new testament, which is shed for many for the remission of sins" (Matt. 26: 17, 26-28).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy:

"The true sense is spiritually lost, if the sacrament is confined to the use of bread and wine. The disciples had eaten, yet Jesus prayed and gave them bread. This would have been foolish in its literal sense; but in its spiritual signification, it was natural and beautiful . . . Our Eucharist is spiritual communion with the one God. Our bread, 'which cometh down from heaven,' is Truth. Our cup is the cross. Our wine the inspiration of Love, the draught our Master drank and commended to his followers" (pp. 32, 35).

Avoid illness

by C. W. LUSSMAN
of Sieburg Pharmacy

Many people visit a doctor or call for his services only after illness strikes.

This makes the doctor's real job considerably more difficult. There are times when he arrives too late to remedy what has been of long duration.

Avoid illness. Take time out while still in good health to get the physician's advice. Make this a habit of health.

Often a slight symptom which means nothing to the patient is a danger signal to the trained man of medicine. He may advise rest, change of work, of scene, or simply a change in diet.

See your doctor regularly. Buy all medicines from a well-trained, competent pharmacist.

Mrs. Henry Freise dies; 62 descendants

Funeral services for Mrs. Henry Freise, pioneer resident of Schaumburg and Palatine, will be held Thursday afternoon at Palatine Lutheran church. She leaves her husband, to whom she was married 66 years.

Deceased was a daughter of the late John Fasse and Charlotte Kehe, who were among the earliest settlers in Schaumburg township.

Mr. and Mrs. Freise have 62 descendants, five children, 26 grandchildren and 31 great grandchildren. The parents of each came to America from Germany settling here in 1849 and 1847 respectively.

Laurin and associates offer bookkeeping service

E. F. Laurin, Arlington Heights, in his work as a certified accountant and as a consultant on income tax matters, has realized for some time the need of a bookkeeping service for the small business man, professional man and others who do not require a full time employee for that purpose.

Mr. Laurin is establishing such a service at a low price and has established offices in the former Arlington Elevator and Coal office at North Vail street. The fee of $15 to $10 a month will make possible a bookkeeping service welcomed by every businessman, no matter how small his credit accounts.

The girl beginners class has been just as large and well attended each day. By the looks of things it seems that there is a competative feeling between the two groups because each day new girl beginners enroll as have a corresponding number of boys enrolled.

The girls class is composed of mostly Arlington Heights children with Palatine running second and Mt. Prospect third. The beginner girls are:

The life saving class has been changed from one to two o'clock with a full hour of instruction in junior and senior life saving technique.

All private swimming and diving instructions are given by appointment and arrangements can be made with Ann Vokac. The days for private instruction are Tuesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday mornings.

Next week there will be entries for the boys and girls free throw contest with the tournament conducted the following week.

If there are any boys interested in life guard jobs and are good swimmers, regardless if they have a red cross certificate, please apply to Director Vokac.

Morton Grove days to open this Friday

A sports program with events for men, women and children of all ages will open Morton Grove Days officially at 4 p.m. Friday. The annual summer festival will continue thru Saturday and Sunday afternoons and evenings.

A nightly festival attraction will be a series of water fights between the Morton Grove volunteer fire department and teams from the volunteer departments of surrounding communities. Invitations have been extended to firemen in Des Plaines, Park Ridge, Glenview, Northbrook, Skokie and other villages to compete for cash prizes.

Two softball games have been arranged for Sunday afternoon. Contestants will be two teams from the Morton Grove league and two teams made up of married men from the village.

Rides, refreshment booths and games will be open early Saturday and Sunday afternoons.

The principal award in the Morton Grove festival this year is a Dodge deluxe sedan. Other awards include bicycles, an electric refrigerator and numerous scarce and expensive electrical household gadgets.

Potluck luncheon 12:00 noon. After the luncheon an interesting program of recreation has been planned. All women are most cordially invited to attend.

"A friendly church in the City of Good Neighbors most cordially welcomes you!"

Nutritious Food

The sweet potato long valued as an energy food, may also be important for two vitamins—A and C. To get the most in vitamin A, choose the deep-colored varieties that are rich in carotene (pro-vitamin A). Recent tests show that the red or yellow-fleshed varieties are remarkably good sources of vitamin A, but that the pale-fleshed kinds provide less. Sweet potato varieties differ much less in vitamin C than in vitamin A.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, July 14, was:

"SACRAMENT"

The Golden Text was:

"The cup of blessing which we bless, is it not the communion of the blood of Christ? The bread which we break, is it not the communion of the body of Christ?" (I Cor. 10: 16).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible:

"Now the first day of the feast of unleavened bread the disciples came to Jesus, saying unto him, where wilt thou that we prepare for thee to eat the passover? . . . And as they were eating, Jesus took bread, and blessed it, and brake it, and gave it to the disciples, and said, Take, eat; this is my body. And he took the cup, and gave thanks, and gave it to them, saying, Drink ye all of it; For this is my blood of the new testament, which is shed for many for the remission of sins" (Matt. 26: 17, 26-28).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy:

"The true sense is spiritually lost, if the sacrament is confined to the use of bread and wine. The disciples had eaten, yet Jesus prayed and gave them bread. This would have been foolish in its literal sense; but in its spiritual signification, it was natural and beautiful . . . Our Eucharist is spiritual communion with the one God. Our bread, 'which cometh down from heaven,' is Truth. Our cup is the cross. Our wine the inspiration of Love, the draught our Master drank and commended to his followers" (pp. 32, 35).

Avoid illness

by C. W. LUSSMAN
of Sieburg Pharmacy

Many people visit a doctor or call for his services only after illness strikes.

This makes the doctor's real job considerably more difficult. There are times when he arrives too late to remedy what has been of long duration.

Avoid illness. Take time out while still in good health to get the physician's advice. Make this a habit of health.

Often a slight symptom which means nothing to the patient is a danger signal to the trained man of medicine. He may advise rest, change of work, of scene, or simply a change in diet.

See your doctor regularly. Buy all medicines from a well-trained, competent pharmacist.

Palatine man has a narrow escape

Leighton Mangels, Palatine, was saved this week from a "hit and run" charge because Walter Schinkowsky, Palatine florist, also witnessed a small accident in front of the postoffice. A hit-and-run driver did not stop after "nicking" the fender of a parked car of a woman driver.

Mangels was waiting to back out his car when the accident happened. By the time that the woman driver could collect her thoughts, she assumed that the Mangels car being driven away was the guilty one.

For three days she checked licenses on local cars when she "found" the Mangels car and also Mr. Mangels, himself, who took a tongue lashing until, with the aid of Schinkowsky, he could convince the Palatine police that he was not guilty.

OES notes

The Arlington Heights Chapter 992 OES had an interesting meeting July 11 which was also a party for the grand lecturers. There were several guests from Chicago and nearby chapters including two past grand officers.

The next meeting will be August 22 when there will be an official visit from the worthy grand matron and her grand officers. In the meantime have a pleasant summer vacation.

Bicycle Sales

Normal peacetime sales, mostly to youngsters, average about a million bicycles a year.

This area leads country in new business since V-E

Northern Illinois leads all other areas of the United States in the number of new industrial plants for which contracts were let in the year following V-E day, according to a survey made by the territorial information department of the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois and based on copyrighted material furnished by the Engineering News-Record.

The ninety-nine plants locating in the Chicago-Northern Illinois area total more than twice the number established in any other section of the nation. The Los Angeles area ranked second with 47 new plants, while Cleveland was third with 40.

During the year Illinois' statewide industrial facilities were increased by 112 plants, the largest of which cost $6,000,000.

New construction totaled over $45,000,000, Milburn L. Forth, the department's industrial economist, reported. He said that Illinois is well represented by smaller plants covering a widely diversified list of industries.

The state has maintained the same ranking in postwar expansion that it had occupied as a result of the accelerated wartime industrial construction program, he added.

Forth found it significant that the study showed "facilities for iron and steel, automobiles, chemicals, food products and petroleum comprising 60 per cent of the total value of new facilities."

"With the exception of food products, these were the same industries that led in capital investment during the war," he pointed out. "And they are among the leading industries of northern Illinois."

In the year after V-E day, contracts were awarded in the United States for 1.050 manufacturing plants and additions at a cost of over $689,000.000. Among the various states, Illinois and California, followed by Ohio, Pennsylvania and Texas, show the widest range of industrial diversification, based on new construction.

Expansion of facilities during the past year in northern Illinois represents 5.7 per cent of the total plant additions in the United States valued at $100,000 or more.

State Highway Aid

New Jersey was the first state to take a definite step in the matter of state co-operation in building roads, and with the passage of a state-aid law in that state in 1891, a new era in road building was begun. The control of state-aid funds was first vested in the president of the state board of agriculture, but in 1894 an act creating the office of commissioner of highways was passed.

Medal honors operator who lost life in hotel

For supreme courage, loyalty and devotion to duty during the LaSalle Hotel fire in Chicago on June 5, Mrs. Julia C. Berry, telephone operator who sacrificed her life that others might escape the smoke and flames, has been posthumously awarded a gold Vail Medal and $1,000. These will be presented to her son, John Joseph Berry, age 15, who was left an orphan by his mother's tragic death.

Announcement of the award was made by the American Telephone and Telegraph Company following a meeting of the Bell System National Committee of award for Theodore N. Vail Medals.

The citation describes Mrs. Berry's supreme devotion to duty as follows —

"She was alone on duty at the switchboard of the twenty-two story LaSalle Hotel, Chicago, when a disastrous fire started on the ground floor at about 12:30 a.m., June 5, 1946. The flames swept rapidly to the seventh floor before they were checked, and dense smoke poured upward through the entire building. Sixty-one persons lost their lives and many more were injured or overcome by smoke.

"Mrs. Berry's post was on the second floor. When notified of the fire, she immediately called the fire department. Then, despite the oncoming smoke and flame, she set to work to spread the alarm throughout the hotel, calling room after room to warn people of their danger. Efforts were made to get her to leave. Twice she refused, saying there were many rooms that she had yet to reach. When the fire was over she was still at her post — her body slumped over the switchboard where she had chosen to stay and serve others, at the cost of her own life."

This is the fifteenth gold medal awarded since the establishment in 1920 of the fund in memory of Theodore N. Vail, former president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company. In addition, 109 awards of silver Vail Medals, which are accompanied by $500 in cash, and 1,127 bronze medals and $100 have been made during the past 26 years to telephone people for acts of noteworthy public service. Special plaques also have been awarded in 28 cases commemorating acts of conspicuous service by groups of Bell System people.

Up and coming starlet visits here

Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Dey and children, Deloris and Terrance arrived from Los Angeles, Calif., recently, visiting Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Forrest of Arlington Heights Sunday.

Deloris Dey won a popularity contest sponsored by the Chicago Tribune four years ago. At that time a talent scout for MGM studios took her out to California where they have spent several thousand dollars in training Deloris to be a dramatic actress.

She had a bit part in the recent picture "Letters from Eddie" and is the next starlet in line for a good part in a good picture.

The Deys are former residents of Western Springs, moving to California to be with their daughter during her training.

Mounties film at Des Plaines

Des Plaines Theatre is presenting the thrilling technicolor film "Northwest Mounted Police", Gary Cooper, Madeleine Carroll and Paulette Goddard, beginning this Sunday, July 21, 3 days.

Cecile B. DeMille directed the colorful film of Canada's famous mounties. Co-featured on the program are Alan Ladd and Veronica Lake in "This Gun for Hire".

Combining the spectacular technicolor and scenery of "Northwest Mounted Police" with the thrilling action of "This Gun for Hire" the Des Plaines Theater is presenting one of the outstanding programs of the season.

Wins ham, throws dinner party

Many people were lucky winners of hams at the recent Arlington Heights carnival. Among the winners was Mrs. Kenneth Kennedy of Arlington Heights, who was so pleased over her good fortune she decided to have a dinner party. Of course maybe the Kennedys just couldn't eat all that ham knowing some of their good friends were having "hot dogs" again.

The appreciative guests who helped make short work of that ham Saturday night were Mr. and Mrs. William Walton, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Cox and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Frasier.

American legion auxiliary notes

Tuesday evening Merle Guild Unit American Legion met at Legion hall in Arlington Heights to transact regular business. There were few committee reports as the year's work is about finished, in readiness for the annual convention which takes place at the Palmer House in Chicago, August 16-19 inclusive. This was the first meeting at which the president, Fannie May, who is on vacation, had not presided during her two years in office. Merle Holtz presided and was congratulated by all at the close of the meeting.

Past president, Vi Rector, now a resident of Florida, surprised the members by being present at the meeting. Another surprise was the receipt of a case of Dolly Duzit sponges which were ordered over a year ago. The subject under discussion was the Fall Festival which starts August 8.

The hostesses were Gladys Statler and Eleanor Taylor, who served refreshments on the usual flower bedecked table. The flowers were later presented to their guest of honor, Vi Rector.

Solar Eclipses

While a total eclipse of the sun takes place somewhere on an average of every 17 months, countless millions of persons have lived and died without seeing one. No total eclipse was seen in London, for example, between 1115 and 1715, or during a period of 600 years.

Palatine man has a narrow escape

Leighton Mangels, Palatine, was saved this week from a "hit and run" charge because Walter Schinkowsky, Palatine florist, also witnessed a small accident in front of the postoffice. A hit-and-run driver did not stop after "nicking" the fender of a parked car of a woman driver.

Mangels was waiting to back out his car when the accident happened. By the time that the woman driver could collect her thoughts, she assumed that the Mangels car being driven away was the guilty one.

For three days she checked licenses on local cars when she "found" the Mangels car and also Mr. Mangels, himself, who took a tongue lashing until, with the aid of Schinkowsky, he could convince the Palatine police that he was not guilty.

OES notes

The Arlington Heights Chapter 992 OES had an interesting meeting July 11 which was also a party for the grand lecturers. There were several guests from Chicago and nearby chapters including two past grand officers.

The next meeting will be August 22 when there will be an official visit from the worthy grand matron and her grand officers. In the meantime have a pleasant summer vacation.

This area leads country in new business since V-E

Northern Illinois leads all other areas of the United States in the number of new industrial plants for which contracts were let in the year following V-E day, according to a survey made by the territorial information department of the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois and based on copyrighted material furnished by the Engineering News-Record.

The ninety-nine plants locating in the Chicago-Northern Illinois area total more than twice the number established in any other section of the nation. The Los Angeles area ranked second with 47 new plants, while Cleveland was third with 40.

During the year Illinois' statewide industrial facilities were increased by 112 plants, the largest of which cost $6,000,000.

New construction totaled over $45,000,000, Milburn L. Forth, the department's industrial economist, reported. He said that Illinois is well represented by smaller plants covering a widely diversified list of industries.

The state has maintained the same ranking in postwar expansion that it had occupied as a result of the accelerated wartime industrial construction program, he added.

Forth found it significant that the study showed "facilities for iron and steel, automobiles, chemicals, food products and petroleum comprising 60 per cent of the total value of new facilities."

"With the exception of food products, these were the same industries that led in capital investment during the war," he pointed out. "And they are among the leading industries of northern Illinois."

In the year after V-E day, contracts were awarded in the United States for 1,050 manufacturing plants and additions at a cost of over $689,000,000. Among the various states, Illinois and California, followed by Ohio, Pennsylvania and Texas, show the widest range of industrial diversification, based on new construction.

Expansion of facilities during the past year in northern Illinois represents 5.7 per cent of the total plant additions in the United States valued at $100,000 or more.

State Highway Aid

New Jersey was the first state to take a definite step in the matter of state co-operation in building roads, and with the passage of a state-aid law in that state in 1891, a new era in road building was begun. The control of state-aid funds was first vested in the president of the state board of agriculture, but in 1894 an act creating the office of commissioner of highways was passed.

Medal honors operator who lost life in hotel

For supreme courage, loyalty and devotion to duty during the LaSalle Hotel fire in Chicago on June 5, Mrs. Julia C. Berry, telephone operator who sacrificed her life that others might escape the smoke and flames, has been posthumously awarded a gold Vail Medal and $1,000. These will be presented to her son, John Joseph Berry, age 15, who was left an orphan by his mother's tragic death.

Announcement of the award was made by the American Telephone and Telegraph Company following a meeting of the Bell System National Committee of award for Theodore N. Vail Medals.

The citation describes Mrs. Berry's supreme devotion to duty as follows —

"She was alone on duty at the switchboard of the twenty-two story LaSalle Hotel, Chicago, when a disastrous fire started on the ground floor at about 12:30 a.m., June 5, 1946. The flames swept rapidly to the seventh floor before they were checked, and dense smoke poured upward through the entire building. Sixty-one persons lost their lives and many more were injured or overcome by smoke.

"Mrs. Berry's post was on the second floor. When notified of the fire, she immediately called the fire department. Then, despite the oncoming smoke and flame, she set to work to spread the alarm throughout the hotel, calling room after room to warn people of their danger. Efforts were made to get her to leave. Twice she refused, saying there were many rooms that she had yet to reach. When the fire was over she was still at her post — her body slumped over the switchboard where she had chosen to stay and serve others, at the cost of her own life."

This is the fifteenth gold medal awarded since the establishment in 1920 of the fund in memory of Theodore N. Vail, former president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company. In addition, 109 awards of silver Vail Medals, which are accompanied by $500 in cash, and 1,127 bronze medals and $100 have been made during the past 26 years to telephone people for acts of noteworthy public service. Special plaques also have been awarded in 28 cases commemorating acts of conspicuous service by groups of Bell System people.

Up and coming starlet visits here

Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Dey and children, Deloris and Terrance arrived from Los Angeles, Calif., recently, visiting Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Forrest of Arlington Heights Sunday.

Deloris Dey won a popularity contest sponsored by the Chicago Tribune four years ago. At that time a talent scout for MGM studios took her out to California where they have spent several thousand dollars in training Deloris to be a dramatic actress.

She had a bit part in the recent picture "Letters from Eddie" and is the next starlet in line for a good part in a good picture.

The Deys are former residents of Western Springs, moving to California to be with their daughter during her training.

Mounties film at Des Plaines

Des Plaines Theatre is presenting the thrilling technicolor film "Northwest Mounted Police", Gary Cooper, Madeleine Carroll and Paulette Goddard, beginning this Sunday, July 21, 3 days.

Cecile B. DeMille directed the colorful film of Canada's famous mounties. Co-featured on the program are Alan Ladd and Veronica Lake in "This Gun for Hire".

Combining the spectacular technicolor and scenery of "Northwest Mounted Police" with the thrilling action of "This Gun for Hire" the Des Plaines Theater is presenting one of the outstanding programs of the season.

Wins ham, throws dinner party

Many people were lucky winners of hams at the recent Arlington Heights carnival. Among the winners was Mrs. Kenneth Kennedy of Arlington Heights, who was so pleased over her good fortune she decided to have a dinner party. Of course maybe the Kennedys just couldn't eat all that ham knowing some of their good friends were having "hot dogs" again.

The appreciative guests who helped make short work of that ham Saturday night were Mr. and Mrs. William Walton, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Cox and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Frasier.

American legion auxiliary notes

Tuesday evening Merle Guild Unit American Legion met at Legion hall in Arlington Heights to transact regular business. There were few committee reports as the year's work is about finished, in readiness for the annual convention which takes place at the Palmer House in Chicago, August 16-19 inclusive. This was the first meeting at which the president, Fannie May, who is on vacation, had not presided during her two years in office. Merle Holtz presided and was congratulated by all at the close of the meeting.

Past president, Vi Rector, now a resident of Florida, surprised the members by being present at the meeting. Another surprise was the receipt of a case of Dolly Duzit sponges which were ordered over a year ago. The subject under discussion was the Fall Festival which starts August 8.

The hostesses were Gladys Statler and Eleanor Taylor, who served refreshments on the usual flower bedecked table. The flowers were later presented to their guest of honor, Vi Rector.

Solar Eclipses

While a total eclipse of the sun takes place somewhere on an average of every 17 months, countless millions of persons have lived and died without seeing one. No total eclipse was seen in London, for example, between 1115 and 1715, or during a period of 600 years.

Cribbings from TOTVILLE

by Di Dee

Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Dueball, 919 N. Chestnut, Arlington Heights, are announcing the arrival of a daughter July 14 at the St. Francis hospital, Evanston. She weighed in at 6 pounds 15½ ounces and has been named Faith Elaine. Faith has a four year old sister, Dian, who is looking forward to her arrival home.

A baby girl, Lynda, was born July 12 to Mr. and Mrs. Harold J. Kailing of Palatine. Both mother and daughter are resting well at the Palatine hospital.

4-H Flashes

The Arlington Heights 4-H Flashes met at the home of their leader, July 11, at 1:30, with nine girls present.

The program consisted of a talk by Bonnie Peterson on first aid, demonstrations of putting in a dress placket by Joan Lingren, patching and mending by Priscilla Briff and gathering a skirt to a belt by Erica Jung.

One new member, Joyce Drewes was welcomed. There was also piano selections by Joan Lingren and a humorous reading by Bonnie Peterson. Games were played under the direction of Margaret Walt, recreation chairman, assisted by Elaine Duenn.

Wheeling township home bureau

The next meeting of the Wheeling unit of Home Bureau will be held Thursday, July 25, at 1:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. C. A. Hughes, 720 So. Dunton, Arlington Heights.

The major project will be on serving buffet meals and the minor lesson will be on table courtesy and will be given by the home advisor, Mrs. Marie Cornelius.

At this meeting the picnic date will be set. New members and guests are always welcome.

Renata Landmeier and Joan Sanders, hosts, served cookies.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Truelsen of Northbrook are receiving congratulations on the arrival of a baby daughter, Carol Ann, at the Evanston hospital, June 29. Carol weighed 6 pounds 14 ounces and is the first grandchild of Mr. and Mrs. George Frake of Glenview.

9th district auxiliary annual meeting

The election of officers by American Legion Auxiliary unit delegates of the Ninth District will take place in the Wilson Park Field House, 4630 Milwaukee ave., July 18. The polls will open at 7 p. m. and close at 9 p. m., according to Mrs. Ernest Wiehrdt, publicity chairman of the Ninth District. The regular meeting of all unit delegates will convene at 8 p. m.

Mae Wisersky of Arlington Hts., who holds the office of membership chairman at the present time, is the only candidate for district director. The candidates for alternate district director are Mae Ladky, Mary E. Schwartz, and Ann Woodville.

Women who want to work at either Hines or Vaughn hospital are urged by Ethel Davis, rehabilitation chairman, to take a hospital worker's training course. Hines classes are on Wednesday, July 31, 9:30 a. m. to 3:30 p. m.; and Vaughan classes Wednesday, August 7, 9:30 a. m. to 3:30 p. m.

Leyden home bureau meets

The July meeting of the Leyden Home Bureau was held at the home of Mrs. Ed Longfield on Monday evening, July 8.

Tentative plans were discussed concerning the annual picnic which will be held the 11th of August at Wing Park, Elgin. Committees were appointed to make plans for this event.

The major lesson concerning the serving of buffet meals was given by the Home Advisor, Mrs. Marie Cornelius. Helpful suggestions and examples were given in the serving of this type of meal. Mrs. Cornelius also presented the minor lesson in which she gave some rules of etiquette. Refreshments of cake, coffee and ice cream were served by the hostess.

Mrs. William Schoepke celebrated her birthday last Friday, July 12. Twenty-seven guests were invited for supper in honor of the occasion.

Irene Verret, John Hammell are married

Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Verret of Mt. Prospect announce the marriage of their daughter, Irene Ulaine, to Mr. John Crawford Hammell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ridge Hammell of Philadelphia.

A double ring ceremony was performed by Father Stier at the Parish house in Arlington Heights at three o'clock, Saturday, July 13. A very small reception and a wedding dinner followed later at The Pantry for the immediate families, Miss Dee Tarbet and her mother of Chicago and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Kirchhoff.

The bride was dressed in a white suit and carried gardenias and also wore them in her hair.

Mr. and Mrs. Hammell and daughter Mary were here from Philadelphia for the wedding. The Verrets held open house for their friends last Wednesday and Thursday and were dinner guests of the Hammells at The Ivanhoe last Friday night.

The bride and groom are on a month's tour of the various air bases that he was stationed at when he was in service. They will live in Philadelphia, Pa.

Mary Ann Eiler given shower

Miss Mary Ann Eiler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Eiler, of Arlington Heights, was honored with a bridal shower last Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Leonard Rodewald. The Rodewald basement was beautifully decorated for the occasion and the bride-to-be received a shower of lovely gifts from the thirty five guests present.

Later in the evening, Mrs. Rodewald and co-hostess, Irene Eiler, served the group refreshments.

Miss Eiler will become the bride of Melvin Laseke of Arlington Heights, August 3. The wedding will be held at the Arlington Heights St. Peter Lutheran church at 7:30 p.m.

Wild Dog

The dingo or wild dog is one of the few carniverous animals in Australia. One dingo has been known to destroy a hundred sheep in one night.

Wedding bells for Mae Koelper, Bob Harting

The marriage of Miss Mae L. Koelper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Koelper, Wheeling and Mr. Robert A. Harting, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Harting of Arlington Heights was solemnized Saturday, July 13. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. G. Fechner of St. John's Evangelical Lutheran church, West Northfield.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and was attired in a long train gown of white mousseline de soie with lace yolk and sleeve tops. Baby pearls set of the joining of the two materials. Her long veil was held in place by an Imperial Crown. On a white Bible, which the bride carried, was a corsage of white gladioli and showers of stephanotis which was later removed from the Bible and worn throughout the evening.

Erna Koeppen, the bride's sister, as matron of honor wore a dress of mousseline de soie also. but of Aqua color. She carried a bouquet of peach gladioli and white stephanotis, wearing a hair garland of the same flowers.

Little junior bridesmaid, Ruth Koelper, sister of the bride and flower girls Karen Mae and Beverly Ann Huber, nieces of the bride wore Aqua net dresses; Ruth, carrying a bouquet and wearing a hair garland identical to the matron of honor and Karen Mae and Beverly Ann carrying small white baskets of peach gladioli. They wore rings with an aqua stone which were gifts of the bride.

The bridesmaids, Lois Harting and LaVergne Schaeffer, the groom's sister and cousin, respectively and Mildred Eichelberg and Jeannette Voss, friends of the bride were dressed in gowns of Aqua rayon bodice and net skirts with peach gladioli as their bouquets and hair garlands. Ear rings were worn by the bridesmaids as well as the matron of honor, given to them by the bride.

Erwin Koelper, brother of the bride was best man. Robert Koelper, Andrew Koeppen, the bride's brother and brother-in-law, respectively and Orville Schaeffer, cousin of the groom and Elroy Hogreve, friend of the groom served as ushers. They all wore tuxedos with white carnation bouttonnieres.

During the ceremony the bride's aunt, Mrs. Anna Staak, sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "The Twenty-third Psalm' was sung as a duet with Mrs. Violet Koeppen accompanied at the organ by Miss Lois Mae Andersen.

The bride's mother was attired in a black and white, crepe, jersey dress while the groom's mother wore a black jersey dress with orchid floral bodice, both wearing corsages of white carnations.

At 7:00 o'clock a chicken dinner was served to 50 guests in the Lutheran school basement decorated in Aqua and white. A reception for 400 guests was held later in the evening at the Wheeling Community hall with music by Art Ahrens' orchestra. Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. John Beto and family of Morse Bluff, Nebraska and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Halstenberg and Mary Lou of Alton, Illinois.

The newlyweds are making their home on the farm home of the groom's parents.

Baptised

Roger Walter Hetzke is the name of the new son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter F. Hetzke, State rd., Arlington Heights, baptised Sunday morning in St. Peter Lutheran Church. Mildred Maierhofer, Wilbert Carnehl wed

Saturday, July 6, at 7:30 p.m. the wedding of Miss Mildred Maierhofer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Maierhofer of Mt. Prospect, and Mr. Wilbert Carnehl, son of Mrs. Hugo Zaehler of Park Ridge was solemnized at the West Northfield Evangelical church. The double ring, candlelit ceremony was read by Reverend Walter Fechner before an altar banked with palms, huge baskets of white carnations, gladioli and delphinium.

The Lohengrin's wedding march was played as the bride entered the church on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage. During the ceremony the soloist, Norma Haynes, sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied by Mr. Appelt, organist.

The bride wore a gown of eggshell satin fashioned with lace peplum, sweetheart neckline, and long snug fitting sleeves. Her full length, lace trimmed veil was held in place by a tiara of orange blossoms. Her jewelry consisted of a pearl necklace and pearl ear rings, a gift from the groom. She carried a fan shaped bouquet of Stephanotis with a white orchid center.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Evelyn Sander, sister of the bride. She was dressed in a gown of aqua, styled with brocaded satin top and full net skirt, with matching gloves and halo. She carried a white prayer book covered with a spray of pink carnations.

The five bridesmaids were Mrs. Bernice Brandal, Miss Dorothy Carnehl, Miss Dorothy Maierhofer, Miss Vernette Moellenkamp and Mrs. Lorraine Peters. They were gowned identical to the matron of honor in pale pink. Each carried a white prayer book covered with a spray of aqua carnations.

Miss Nancy Bornhoff, niece of the bride, served as flower girl. She was attired in an aqua dress, like the matron of honor, and carried a basket of rose petals. Howard Sander, nephew of the bride, served as ring bearer and wore a tuxedo. He carried the rings on a heart shaped, lace trimmed, satin pollow.

Raymond Carnehl, brother of the groom, served as best man. The five ushers were Irvin Carnehl, Elmer Sander, Louis Maierhofer Jr., Rudolph Maierhofer, and Raymond Larson. All wore tuxedos and boutonnieres of white carnations.

The bridegroom's mother wore a pastel green dress with white accessories and had a pink rose corsage. The bride's mother wore a powder blue dress with white accessories and also had a pink rose corsage.

Gifts to the bridal party from the bride and groom were silver compacts to the girls, the flower girl receiving a pearl necklace, and gold tie chains and collar clasps to the men, the ring bearer receiving a suit.

A reception was held at the Wheeling Community hall for 350 guests. Dancing was enjoyed by all and at midnight a delicious buffet supper was served.

The newlyweds are honeymooning at Lake Geneva, Wis., and afterward will make their home with the bride's parents.

Luella Lohff, Art Isaacson are married

Miss Luella Grace Lohff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard C. Lohff of Palatine, became the bride of Arthur Isaacson, son of Walter Isaacson of Arlington Heights, July 10. The ceremony took place in the Chicago court house.

A reception followed at the home of the bride's parents for 30 guests. The couple are honeymooning at present and upon their return will make their home in San Jose, California.

Irene Verret, John Hammell are married

Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Verret of Mt. Prospect announce the marriage of their daughter, Irene Ulaine, to Mr. John Crawford Hammell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ridge Hammell of Philadelphia.

A double ring ceremony was performed by Father Stier at the Parish house in Arlington Heights at three o'clock, Saturday, July 13. A very small reception and a wedding dinner followed later at The Pantry for the immediate families, Miss Dee Tarbet and her mother of Chicago and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Kirchhoff.

The bride was dressed in a white suit and carried gardenias and also wore them in her hair.

Mr. and Mrs. Hammell and daughter Mary were here from Philadelphia for the wedding. The Verrets held open house for their friends last Wednesday and Thursday and were dinner guests of the Hammells at The Ivanhoe last Friday night.

The bride and groom are on a month's tour of the various air bases that he was stationed at when he was in service. They will live in Philadelphia, Pa.

Mary Ann Eiler given shower

Miss Mary Ann Eiler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Eiler, of Arlington Heights, was honored with a bridal shower last Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Leonard Rodewald. The Rodewald basement was beautifully decorated for the occasion and the bride-to-be received a shower of lovely gifts from the thirty five guests present.

Later in the evening, Mrs. Rodewald and co-hostess, Irene Eiler, served the group refreshments.

Miss Eiler will become the bride of Melvin Laseke of Arlington Heights, August 3. The wedding will be held at the Arlington Heights St. Peter Lutheran church at 7:30 p.m.

Wild Dog

The dingo or wild dog is one of the few carniverous animals in Australia. One dingo has been known to destroy a hundred sheep in one night.

Wedding bells for Mae Koelper, Bob Harting

The marriage of Miss Mae L. Koelper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Koelper, Wheeling and Mr. Robert A. Harting, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Harting of Arlington Heights was solemnized Saturday, July 13. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. G. Fechner of St. John's Evangelical Lutheran church, West Northfield.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and was attired in a long train gown of white mousseline de soie with lace yolk and sleeve tops. Baby pearls set of the joining of the two materials. Her long veil was held in place by an Imperial Crown. On a white Bible, which the bride carried, was a corsage of white gladioli and showers of stephanotis which was later removed from the Bible and worn throughout the evening.

Erna Koeppen, the bride's sister, as matron of honor wore a dress of mousseline de soie also. but of Aqua color. She carried a bouquet of peach gladioli and white stephanotis, wearing a hair garland of the same flowers.

Little junior bridesmaid, Ruth Koelper, sister of the bride and flower girls Karen Mae and Beverly Ann Huber, nieces of the bride wore Aqua net dresses; Ruth, carrying a bouquet and wearing a hair garland identical to the matron of honor and Karen Mae and Beverly Ann carrying small white baskets of peach gladioli. They wore rings with an aqua stone which were gifts of the bride.

The bridesmaids, Lois Harting and LaVergne Schaeffer, the groom's sister and cousin, respectively and Mildred Eichelberg and Jeannette Voss, friends of the bride were dressed in gowns of Aqua rayon bodice and net skirts with peach gladioli as their bouquets and hair garlands. Ear rings were worn by the bridesmaids as well as the matron of honor, given to them by the bride.

Erwin Koelper, brother of the bride was best man. Robert Koelper, Andrew Koeppen, the bride's brother and brother-in-law, respectively and Orville Schaeffer, cousin of the groom and Elroy Hogreve, friend of the groom served as ushers. They all wore tuxedos with white carnation bouttonnieres.

During the ceremony the bride's aunt, Mrs. Anna Staak, sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "The Twenty-third Psalm' was sung as a duet with Mrs. Violet Koeppen accompanied at the organ by Miss Lois Mae Andersen.

The bride's mother was attired in a black and white, crepe, jersey dress while the groom's mother wore a black jersey dress with orchid floral bodice, both wearing corsages of white carnations.

At 7:00 o'clock a chicken dinner was served to 50 guests in the Lutheran school basement decorated in Aqua and white. A reception for 400 guests was held later in the evening at the Wheeling Community hall with music by Art Ahrens' orchestra. Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. John Beto and family of Morse Bluff, Nebraska and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Halstenberg and Mary Lou of Alton, Illinois.

The newlyweds are making their home on the farm home of the groom's parents.

Caroline Mess

Mrs. Caroline Mess, nee Fedderke, was born February 4, 1882. in Chicago. At the age of ten her mother died and she came to Wood Dale with her father. Here she was instructed in the Christian faith and confirmed by Rev. Grosse in Churchville in 1896.

At the age of 17 she went back to Chicago, to keep house for her youngest brother. June 23, 1920 she was married to Mr. August Mess by Rev. Lambrecht. They made their home in Wood Dale. Her husband died July 21, 1932.

Mrs. Mess was a very faithful member of St. John's church, Wood Dale, and was also a member of the Women's Guild.

Mrs. Mess had several operations during the last five years, but she never fully recovered her strength and health. For the last 9 months she had been a patient in Westlake hospital. July 11 she peacefully slumbered into eternity, at the age of 64 years, 5 months and 7 days.

She leaves to mourn her departure, her two brothers, Henry Fedderke of Kentucky and Willie Fedderke of Congress Park, Ill. Her sister died four years ago. She is also survived by two brothers-in-law; three sisters-in-law; six nephews, two nieces and many friends.

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon, July 14 at St. John's Evangelical church, Addison, Rev. E. Bergstraesser, officiating. Interment in St. John's cemetery.

Mrs. Chas. Suter

Mrs. Charles J. Suter, 81, mother of Francis E. Suter, Bensenville, passed away at her home in Genoa last Sunday after a lingering illness. Mrs. Suter was born in Chicago and had seen it grow from a small town to its present size. She is survived by her husband, two sons, a daughter and nine grandchildren. Burial was in St. Catherine's cemetery, Genoa, on Tuesday morning following a requiem high mass.

Emma Blume

Mrs. Emma Blume, nee Albrecht of Ella township, was laid to rest in the Fairfield Lutheran cemetery Tuesday, July 16. She had rested at Karstens Funeral Home until 11 p. m. Tuesday morning and was then taken to the Palatine Lutheran church where she laid in state from 12 until 2 p. m. Services were conducted by Rev. Wilbur Koester.

Mrs. Blume was born March 2, 1880 in Elk Grove township. She was baptised and confirmed at the Schaumburg Lutheran church and in 1907 she was united in marriage to Henry Blume at the Schaumburg Lutheran church. After their marriage this couple made their home in Ella township where they lived together until 1930, when Mr. Blume passed away. Mrs. Blume has lived on their farm in Volo, until 8 weeks ago when she became ill and went to the Libertyville hospital. She passed away Saturday morning, July 13, at the age of 66 years, 4 months and 11 days.

Those left to mourn her departure are three children, Martin, Henry and Mrs. Emily Laufer, all of Ela township. One daughter-in-law, one son-in-law, 4 grandchildren, one sister, Mrs. Louise Kruckenburg, and two brothers, Henry and Herman Albrecht.

William R. Lorenzen

Funeral services were held Wednesday, July 17, from the Arlington Heights Lauterburg and Oehler Funeral chapel for William R. Lorenzen of Arlington Heights. The services were at 2:30, Rev. Robert Grady officiating. Interment was in the Arlington Heights cemetery.

Mr. Lorenzen was born in Arlington Heights December 8, 1881, where he resided all his life, his present address being at 102 South Dunton ave. In 1908 he was united in marriage to Miss Georgia Terrens. He was a retired employee of the Chicago & Northwestern railroad. Mr. Lorenzen passed away suddenly in his home July 14.

He is survived by his wife, Georgia, one daughter, Mrs. Florence Schaper of Chicago, one grandson, and a sister, Mrs. Helen Reynolds of Oklahoma.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear husband and father, August Beilfuss, Sr., who left us one year ago, July 21, 1945.

The blow was hard,
The shock severe,
We never thought
His death so near.
Only those who have loved
And lost can tell
The pain of parting
Without farewell.
Gone dear father, yes forever,
But forgotten, you will be never.

Loving Wife and Children.

IN MEMORIAM

HELLBERG, RICHARD

In loving memory of our darling son and brother, Dickie, who passed away eleven years ago today, July 19, 1946.

There is a home not made with hands,
And beyond its golden door
Awaits the one we love so dear,
Not lost, but gone before.
No one knows how much we miss him,
No one knows the bitter pain
We have suffered since he left us,
Life has never been the same.

Lonesome Mom, Dad and Sister Carole.

CARD OF THANKS

My recent sad loss leaves me with grateful heart towards relatives, neighbors and friends. Also wish to thank Rev. Stephan for his comforting words in my recent bereavement.

Mrs. Otto Stein.

CARD OF THANKS

Our recent sad loss leaves us with grateful hearts toward neighbors and friends. Their comforting expressions of sympathy and thoughfulness will always be remembered.

The children of Mrs. B. Van Gorder.

Mrs. Sophia Freise

Funeral services are being held Thursday afternoon at the Palatine Lutheran church for Mrs. Henry Freise who passed away at her home Monday after a lingering illness. Services were in charge of Rev. Koester. Interment was in the South Side cemetery, Palatine.

Deceased leaves her husband, Henry C. Freise to whom she had been married 66 years, five children, Mrs. Herman Busche, Chicago, Henry J. Freise, Schaumburg, Louis H. Freise, Palatine, Mrs. August Grever Barrington, Frank Freise, Waukegan, 26 grandchildren, 31 great grandchildren.

Mrs. Sophia Freise was born December 28, 1860, the daughter of John Fasse and his wife, Charlotte Kehe at Schaumburg. Early in infancy she was baptized at St. Peter's Lutheran church in Schaumburg by the Rev. Wm. Richman. At Schaumburg, too, she was confirmed by Rev. H. Schmidt, who also presided at the wedding ceremony when she was married to Henry C. Freise on June 17, 1880. This union was blessed with the birth of seven children, two of whom have preceeded their parents into eternity. About a month ago the couple observed their 66th wedding anniversary.

The Freise family made their home in Schaumburg until they moved to Palatine in 1902. Since that time they have made their home on S. Plum Grove ave. They have always been active and prominent in civic and church affairs.

John Wagner

John Wagner, 72 years old, died at his home in Melrose Park Sunday, July 7. Funeral services were held July 10 from Sachs-Tiedeman, Franklin Park, to St. John's Vianny Catholic church, West Lake, with interment at St. Joseph's cemetery, River Grove.

He was born July 7, 1874, at Luxemburg, and married Anna Lentz July 4, 1904, coming to this country and residing in Chicago until 1928 when the family moved to a farm on Rand road, near Arlington Heights. They moved back to Melrose Park in 1933. He was a member of Section Three, Luxemburg Brotherhood of America for 42 years.

He leaves his widow, six children, Margaret Stade, of Northbrook, William of Buffalo Grove, Nicholas of Chicago, Lillian Stoup, Melrose Park, Frank, River Grove, and John, Jr., of Melrose Park, four daughters-in-law, two sons-in-law, seven grandchildren, and one sister, Mrs. Chris Bly.

Quartermasters offer fine jobs after discharge

Clothing, feeding, equipping and fueling the new Regular Army calls for a supply organization that is the largest and most efficient of its kind in the world. Ski clothes for the arctic, mosquitonets for the tropics, fuel for "jeeps" and giant bombers . . . all are needed in today's highly diversified army. And those are only a few of the problems that face the men of the Quartermaster Corps each day.

You may learn anything from warehousing, clothing repair, or equipment salvage to clerical work, running a laundry, refrigeration, or driving a heavy truck. You will be given the opportunity to train under the supervision of men who know all there is to know about supplying and maintaining the fighting efficiency of an army. You will be preparing yourselves for many fine opportunities if you choose to return to civilian life at the termination of your enlistment.

Green Lawn

For a good green lawn in the spring, apply 50 pounds of 4-7-5 or some other complete fertilizer to every 1,000 square feet while the grass is dormant or before spring growth gets well under way. Broadcast it evenly over the lawn and then water it in thoroughly.

To head florists

Eugene R. Dramm, rose grower at Elmhurst, Illinois was elected President of the Allied Florist's Association of Illinois, which now has 942 cooperating members in the Chicago area. Our members are growers, retailers and wholesalers of cut flowers.

Eugene Daudelin, Chicago retailer, was elected Vice-President. Edward W. Gould, Chicago retailer, was elected Treasurer, according to Hubert J. Wolfe, Executive Secretary.

ADVISORY DEPT. OFFERS PUBLIC FUNERAL HELPS

The return of our Gold Star heroes

by WILLIAM H. STIRLEN of Karstens Funeral Home

Last week in this column was introduced an explanation of the Authoritative Repatriation Program which was signed into law by President Truman on May 15 of this year. This information has been compiled by the mortuary profession, and by the advisory department maintained at the Karstens Funeral Home under the direction of Walter F. Karstens, Roy L. Fairbanks, and William H. Stirlen, as a public service in hope that it may be informative and useful to the Gold Star families, perplexed by the question of Repatriation.

This week a portion of the "ANSWERS TO YOUR QUESTIONS" will be defined, enabling those most concerned — The Gold Star Families, authentic facts about the Repatriation Program.

"ANSWERS TO YOUR QUESTIONS"

Q. What is the repatriation program?

A. Repatriation is the return to their homeland of the remains of American men and women who gave their lives overseas while in service during World War II. The program was voted into law by Congress and signed on May 15, 1946, by President Truman.

Q. When will repatriation begin?

A. The first repatriated remains are expected to reach this country about March 1947.

Q. Whose remains will be repatriated by the government?

A. The remains of members of the armed forces — the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Coast Guard, "Seabees," and Air Forces and all their branches — Merchant seamen, and civilians attached to or employed by the armed forces during World War II, and who died overseas since September 3, 1939, will be entitled to repatriation upon request of their next of kin. All unidentified remains will be repatriated for final burial in national cemeteries in the United States.

Q. Will any precedence be shown according to military or naval rank in the repatriation program?

A. Absolutely none. Remains will be repatriated in the order in which they are prepared for the journey home, regardless of the rank of the deceased. All remains will be accorded the same dignified and reverent treatment and will be placed in identical caskets without regard to military or naval rank.

Q. How will the next of kin signify their decisions concerning repatriation?

A. The War Department will make a canvass of all officially listed next of kin to determine individual wishes concerning the final disposition of the remains of Gold Star heroes. Each next of kin will be sent full information on the procedure to be followed and proper blanks on which to indicate his or her choice.

This column next week will continue with questions and answers on the return of the Gold Star Heroes.

Caroline Mess

Mrs. Caroline Mess, nee Fedderke, was born February 4, 1882. in Chicago. At the age of ten her mother died and she came to Wood Dale with her father. Here she was instructed in the Christian faith and confirmed by Rev. Grosse in Churchville in 1896.

At the age of 17 she went back to Chicago, to keep house for her youngest brother. June 23, 1920 she was married to Mr. August Mess by Rev. Lambrecht. They made their home in Wood Dale. Her husband died July 21, 1932.

Mrs. Mess was a very faithful member of St. John's church, Wood Dale, and was also a member of the Women's Guild.

Mrs. Mess had several operations during the last five years, but she never fully recovered her strength and health. For the last 9 months she had been a patient in Westlake hospital. July 11 she peacefully slumbered into eternity, at the age of 64 years, 5 months and 7 days.

She leaves to mourn her departure, her two brothers, Henry Fedderke of Kentucky and Willie Fedderke of Congress Park, Ill. Her sister died four years ago. She is also survived by two brothers-in-law; three sisters-in-law; six nephews, two nieces and many friends.

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon, July 14 at St. John's Evangelical church, Addison, Rev. E. Bergstraesser officiating. Interment in St. John's cemetery.

Mrs. Chas. Suter

Mrs. Charles J. Suter, 81, mother of Francis E. Suter, Bensenville, passed away at her home in Genoa last Sunday after a lingering illness. Mrs. Suter was born in Chicago and had seen it grow from a small town to its present size. She is survived by her husband, two sons, a daughter and nine grandchildren. Burial was in St. Catherine's cemetery, Genoa, on Tuesday morning following a requiem high mass.

Emma Blume

Mrs. Emma Blume, nee Albrecht of Ella township, was laid to rest in the Fairfield Lutheran cemetery Tuesday, July 16. She had rested at Karstens Funeral Home until 11 p. m. Tuesday morning and was then taken to the Palatine Lutheran church where she laid in state from 12 until 2 p. m. Services were conducted by Rev. Wilbur Koester.

Mrs. Blume was born March 2, 1880 in Elk Grove township. She was baptised and confirmed at the Schaumburg Lutheran church and in 1907 she was united in marriage to Henry Blume at the Schaumburg Lutheran church. After their marriage this couple made their home in Ella township where they lived together until 1930, when Mr. Blume passed away. Mrs. Blume has lived on their farm in Volo, until 8 weeks ago when she became ill and went to the Libertyville hospital. She passed away Saturday morning, July 13, at the age of 66 years, 4 months and 11 days.

Those left to mourn her departure are three children, Martin, Henry and Mrs. Emily Laufer, all of Ela township. One daughter-in-law, one son-in-law, 4 grandchildren, one sister, Mrs. Louise Kruckenburg, and two brothers, Henry and Herman Albrecht.

William R. Lorenzen

Funeral services were held Wednesday, July 17, from the Arlington Heights Lauterburg and Oehler Funeral chapel for William R. Lorenzen of Arlington Heights. The services were at 2:30, Rev. Robert Grady officiating. Interment was in the Arlington Heights cemetery.

Mr. Lorenzen was born in Arlington Heights December 8, 1881, where he resided all his life, his present address being at 102 South Dunton ave. In 1908 he was united in marriage to Miss Georgia Terrens. He was a retired employee of the Chicago & Northwestern railroad. Mr. Lorenzen passed away suddenly in his home July 14.

He is survived by his wife, Georgia, one daughter, Mrs. Florence Schaper of Chicago, one grandson, and a sister, Mrs. Helen Reynolds of Oklahoma.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear husband and father, August Beilfuss, Sr., who left us one year ago, July 21, 1945.

The blow was hard,
The shock severe,
We never thought
His death so near.
Only those who have loved
And lost can tell
The pain of parting
Without farewell.
Gone dear father, yes forever,
But forgotten, you will be never.

Loving Wife and Children.

IN MEMORIAM

HELLBERG, RICHARD

In loving memory of our darling son and brother, Dickie, who passed away eleven years ago today, July 19, 1946.

There is a home not made with hands,
And beyond its golden door
Awaits the one we love so dear,
Not lost, but gone before.
No one knows how much we miss him,
No one knows the bitter pain
We have suffered since he left us,
Life has never been the same.

Lonesome Mom, Dad and Sister Carole.

Without a Flag

Soldiers who fought in the American revolution did not fight under the stars and stripes. There was no official authorization for the national flag of the United States until 1779, so a miscellaneous assortment of flags issued by different states or donated by individuals were carried during the Revolutionary war.

Jitterbugs to compete for trophy at Pros. Hts. festival

Bank to make award Aug. 11

Jitterbugging, the modern stepping with rhythmical motions of the body, will be one of the outstanding contest features offered at Prospect Heights' 10th Anniversary Fete, August 9, 10 and 11. Contestants are expected to vie with the best from the villages of Arlington Heights, Palatine, Mt. Prospect and Des Plaines for the championship trophy donated by the Mt. Prospect State Bank and to be presented by its president, William Busse, Sunday evening, August 11.

Preliminary contest arrangements call for eliminations on Friday and Saturday evenings, with finals on Sunday night. In the meantime maestro Mark Webb, whose orchestra is to furnish dance music for the open air ballroom, is busily engaged checking fast tempo music so as to make the contest one of the fastest moving of his extensive experience. Shoofly pie and apple pan dowdy, Putsy Putsy the cement mixer, One-sie Two-sie and other current popular ditties are all being rehearsed for speed and motion so that the dancers may include their most intricate steps and variations.

MARK WEBB, well known orchestra leader, will provide music so that contestants may include most intricate steps and variations.

Mr. Webb and his orchestra are not novices in this type of the dancing field, having participated in many jitterbug contests at beach resorts and throughout Chicagoland.

Dick Lambert, president of the Prospect Heights Lions Club, is chairman of the jitterbug contest committee. Serving with and aiding him in its promotion are Misses Elaine Pritchard and Joan Bartlett.

GI's take jitterbugging to Europe, Africa, Asia

According to Mr. Lambert the GI's carried jitterbugging into Europe, Africa and Asia, and wherever our armed forces journeyed the native women succumbed to this American interpretation of the dance. Folk dances were soon forgotten and before long, wherever the yanks went, the jitterbug proved most popular. Because of this fact he expects a fairly large turnout of war veterans among the entries in the championship contest.

The contest is being sponsored by the Prospect Heights Field House Association. It is open to all who wish to enter and there is no entry fee or other charges to contestants.

East Maine

Mrs. William Grabow was hostess at a luncheon at her home July 9 in honor of Miss Elsa Grundvig of Oslo, Norway. Guests at the luncheon were Mrs. Carl Wold of Chicago, Mrs. Knute Grundvig and Mrs. Erling Meyer of Norwood Park. Miss Grundvig came here from Norway on a two-year pass and is visiting with her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Knute Grundvig.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Mattern have sold their home on Greenwood avenue and are moving to Little Fork, Minnesota where they have purchased a farm.

Mrs. Ruth Coy is at the Augustana hospital in Chicago, where she submitted to a minor operation on July 12.

Mrs. Margaret Shepherd, a former East Maine resident, has come up here from New Orleans, Louisiana to stay with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Brandikamp of Park Ridge.

Mrs. Cliff Hewitt, Greenwood avenue, was hostess at a stork shower given for Mrs. Kurt Voigt on Thursday afternoon, July 11. Members of their card club were the guests.

Wilbert Koch, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Koch, came home July 11 on an army furlough from Spokane, Washington. He will report back at Geiger Field, Utah, at the end of his furlough.

Mrs. Glen Morris, Cumberland road, underwent a major operation at the Evanston hospital on July 12.

Miss Leona Hennig is accompanying four of her girl friends on a two weeks vacation to Wyoming. The girls are driving and expecting to have lots of fun.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Rubey and son, Charles, and Miss Frances Rubey drove to LeRoy, Illinois Saturday morning where they planned to visit with Mrs. Rita Spratt. Their daughter Mary Ann Rubey has been visiting the Spratt's for the past two weeks and will return home with her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Redlich are enjoying their vacation visiting relatives at various points in the middle west. They left here July 9 for Coloma, Mich., where they were to visit Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hansen. On July 11 they left for Donnelson, Iowa to visit her sister, Mrs. C. P. Denning. From there their itinerary took them to Dallas City, Illinois to the home of Mrs. Redlich's mother, Mrs. Math. Schilb.

Mr. Stephen Engel, of St. James, Minnesota, has been visiting with his nephew, the Geo. Engel family on Shermer avenue for several days this week. Mr. Engel, who is 84 years old was one of the East Maine pioneer farmers many years ago when he lived on the farm now owned by Oren Jaacks. He has been spending his time while here, visiting with his sister, Mrs. Dora Ruthenbeck in Chicago and also his nephew Henry Engel of Des plaines. In addition he has been calling on as many of his old friends as time would permit. Open house was held for him July 14, at the home of his niece, Mrs. Henry Mensching of Mt. Prospect. Despite his advanced age, Mr. Engel is in good health and spirits and as jovial as ever.

Chicago and Northern Illinois—
"A Department Store" for Industry

"I* make electrical relays and switches here in Chicago. My plant is small. A prospective customer recently called on me to place a substantial order. When he went through my factory he stated quite frankly he doubted my ability to produce the order. I asked him to reserve judgment and took him for a little excursion around the city. Within a few hours we visited my tool and die maker, a screw machine shop, three plating and finishing firms (each a specialist in a different type of finishing), a metal fabricator and other suppliers.

" 'You're not a small outfit, mister,' he concluded. 'You're in mass production with departments for every process at your finger tips.' He placed his order and I agreed to start delivery in 30 days . . . was actually shipping in three weeks. In today's market I find this diversity of facilities most helpful. To me, Chicago and Northern Illinois is a practical 'department store' of industry."

*Name on request.

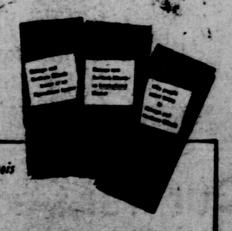

This true story typifies the war-time operations of thousands of Chicago manufacturers who could not hope to provide for every manufacturing process within their own walls. It helps to explain why this area became the nation's subcontracting center, producing by the war's end 23% of the nation's electrical machinery, for example, and 40% of the electronic equipment.

Utilizing cost-saving techniques, many small manufacturers in Chicago and Northern Illinois are today in mass production, despite limitations of inside facilities and capital investment. They have learned how to produce and make delivery from this industrial area easily, quickly, economically—and in large quantity.

Our staff of trained industrial engineers is prepared to answer any inquiries about the many economic resources of this area. On request they will make a special detailed study, for your business, of the various factors which make Chicago and Northern Illinois such a strategic industrial location. This work is carried on without charge. All inquiries are handled confidentially and promptly.

Industries locating in this area have these outstanding advantages: Railroad Center of the United States • World Airport • Inland Waterways • Geographical Center of U. S. Population • Great Financial Center • The "Great Central Market" • Food Producing and Processing Center • Leader in Iron and Steel Manufacturing • Good Labor Relations Record • 2,500,000 Kilowatts of Power • Tremendous Coal Reserves • Good Government • Good Living

YOUR DENTAL I. Q.

© American Dental Association

Q. Several members of my family have been told that they have pyorrhea and that extraction of all the teeth is the only remedy. Is this true? Are there any diseases of the mouth that may be mistaken for pyorrhea?—A. R.

A. It is possible, although unusual, for all members of one family to suffer from pyorrhea, since the disease is not contagious. If the pyorrheic condition is extreme, extraction may be the only solution. However, in many cases, the dentist can check pyorrhea, provided the condition is not too far advanced and the patient cooperates in the daily home care of his teeth and gums. There are other diseases of the mouth that may be mistaken for pyorrhea, the most common being Vincent's infection, or trench mouth. Most dentists recommend that persons with suspicious gum conditions use their own dishes, drinking glass, towels, etc., and that these utensils be thoroughly boiled after use. Persons suffering from any type of gum infection should place themselves under the care of a competent dentist until the condition is corrected. Whether trench mouth is contagious is debatable.

When the child is 3 years old, his toothbrush training should begin. For some time, it will be necessary for parents to supervise the brushing to be sure that it is properly done. But the child should be given every chance to help himself. A sturdy footstool or step will help him to reach the wash basin and the cold water faucet and, with a little training, he will soon be able to do a good job of brushing his teeth after each meal. A mirror properly placed will aid in stimulating the child's interest and in learning how to brush his teeth.

Question: Since correspondence schools are included under the G. I. Bill of rights, if I take a course from such a school, will I get subsistence allowance during the course?

Answer: No, but the school will receive the usual tuition fees.

Question: Before I entered the army, I was studying advertising. Now I would like to switch over to chemistry. Can I do this, or must I continue the course I was studying before I entered the army?

Answer: You can study anything you want. Under the G. I. Bill of Rights a veteran can go to any approved school or college that will accept him as a student and study anything he likes.

Question: I have been told that cash benefits under the G. I. Bill will be taken out of any future bonus that may be voted. Is this true?

Answer: The original law provided that any benefits derived under the G. I. Bill shall be deducted from any future bonus, but the amended act repeals that provision.

Question: When I am discharged I expect to go into a business of my own. If the business does not succeed, will I be able to get any money under the unemployment provisions of the G. I. Bill?

Answer: If your business folds up and you are not earning any money, you will get $20 a week. Should your business fall off so that you earn less than $100 during any calendar month, you will get the difference between your net earnings and $100, up to ten and two-fifths months (or $1040)

Question: Does service in allied armies or navies entitle an applicant to civil service preference?

Answer: No. Service must have been in the armed forces of the United States.

Veteran horseshoer recalls 'long ago'

"Horseshoeing, once a thriving trade in Illinois rapidly is going the way of the horse and buggy," Frank Malone, Barrington's only horseshoer in business reported in an interview this week.

In 1914 there were about 5,000 licensed horseshoers in the state, and today there are only 452, and the state department of registration reports 90 per cent of their business is shoeing race and show horses.

Malone has spent 33 years at the trade, shoeing horses in 33 of the 48 states and in Canada, Panama, Pureto Rico, and parts of South America.

He started in business in 1912 when practically every carriage was horse drawn — fire department, mail wagons and pleasure vehicles.

Malone has been established in Barrington for the past six years. Three years ago he bought out E. F. Wichman, Sr. The automobile age has caught up with the village blacksmith, too. Malone has transferred the bulk of his working shop into the rear of a half truck and drums up business in the Barrington area.

Because of the scarcity of new recruits, Malone reports that the few horseshoers left, are doing a rushing business.

He estimates that he has shod about 50,000 horses during his 33-year tenure of the trade.

Radio to aid Greyhound busses

The Lombard village council last week granted permission to the Greyhound bus corporation to use its water tower for radio experimental purposes for contacting all of their busses within a 75 mile area. Bus officials stated the proposed radio equipment may become outdated at any time, but that such radio contact systems may become a permanent thing in contact between the company's offices in the Board of Trade building in Chicago and all of its busses in the Chicago area.

Radio gift to police, firemen of Lombard

Purchase of a two-way Motorola radio outfit for use of the Lombard police and fire departments for a net outlay of $2,500 was unanimously approved by the village board of trustees at a special session Monday night. Purchase is to be made from the Galvin Manufacturing corporation, with all but a small portion of the sum being supplied by the gift of OCD funds.

5,000 attend Jewel picnic

An estimated 5,000 persons were slated to attend the annual Jewel Tea company and food stores picnic Sunday at Jewel Park, Barrington. A complete schedule of games, races, bingo games and two dance bands were scheduled for the day. Box lunches of fried chicken were also planned.

'Teen Terrace' gives program

Teen Terrace, Glenview's youth center, announced its complete program for the summer months last week. Scavenger hunt, swimming party, barbecue party, square dance and formal dance are all included in the lineup, in addition to movies every other week.

Skull fractured when girl jumps from moving train

Six-year-old Barbara Holmberg and two companions started from their homes in Grayslake recently with all the anticipated thrills of children bound for the movies. They had anticipated the event for several days and Barbara particularly was elated.

Less than an hour after Barbara had boarded a Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific passenger train she was a patient at Condell Memorial hospital. Her skull had been fractured when she jumped from the moving train at the Libertyvile depot.

The two children had alighted from the train and Barbara had followed them down the aisle of the rear coach. The train started before Barbara got off and she jumped. Her head struck the concrete pavement. She was bleeding from her ears when picked up and she was taken to the hospital.

Perseverance pays off at Arlington Hts. meat counter

MEAT LINE

The housewife had been standing in line at the meat counter in a local chain store for some time. As she stood there pork, no limit to the number of pounds each customer purchased, was going thick and fast. About ten minutes before her number was called she saw a big leg of veal being taken into the back room. When her number was called all the pork was gone so she asked the butcher if there was any chance of getting a veal roast. He asked her to wait while he went into the back room to inquire.

The butcher returned with a small piece of veal, maybe 2½ pounds, including a big knuckle, saying this was all they had. The housewife raised her eyebrows saying, "Not ten minutes ago I saw another butcher take a big leg of veal in the backroom."

"Well", replied the butcher, "That's what he's going to take a piece off for his own use."

The housewife glared. "You mean to tell me he's going to take that meat home when there are customers here who haven't had a decent piece of meat in months?"

"Wouldn't you if you were a butcher, after all, we have to eat too," he said.

"Don't hand me that line," she angrily retorted. "You fellows certainly never get neglected on the meat situation. I haven't had any meat in my home for three months and I WANT a decent roast off that leg of veal NOW."

With that the butcher returned to the back room, bringing back the other butcher and the big leg of veal, which weighed 10 or 11 pounds.

"After all", said the housewife, "I don't want all of that but I do think I'm entitled to a good sized roast off it."

The lady took home a six lb. roast, which, after eating that evening, her family commented, "Golly, those butchers sure eat good."

Hungry Housewife,

FIRST TOMATO

I don't know whether I've been spoofed about your newspaper's interest in the first ripe tomato in Palatine — and ours may not be the first, but we have one! Unless the wind blows it off, it is on display on the vine in our garden.

Vivian Cosby,
Palatine.

RIGHT OF WAY

Apparently hurt pride comes before the fall of the out of town lassies where a certain Palatine officer is concerned. We wouldn't have believed this if we hadn't seen it happen.

A young lady was driving down Northwest highway when a police car cut in front of her, coming from Palatine road, causing the lady to swerve from her lane.

Naturally, looking out for her safety and that of her accompanying offspring, she tried to honk the squad car over.

Instead of observing all laws of right-of-way, the policeman swerved in to the middle lane, just as I came along in another car, muttering under my breath about the driver who had bent the elbow just once too often.

After generally messing things up, the cop waved the young lady over and proceeded to dish it out hot and heavy. From what we could gather, his main argument was the statement that "policemen always have the right of way".

If that is so, I think I'll stay right in bed, unendangered by policemen whose blood pressure is higher than their sense of reason.

Lady motorist.

VETS HELP

The other day I had a visitor from Itasca who was attracted to our Park Ridge office by an article in the DuPage County Register which you print. We were very pleased to serve this veteran, but it was quite a distance for him to travel, and he should properly be served by a similar office in DuPage located at 126 West Burlington Street in Westmount.

We are very appreciative of the fine cooperation you have given our project and publicity in your papers, but for any papers serving other than Cook County other service offices should be suggested for the convenience of the veterans, and your organization should be on the mailing lists of the respective offices in Waukegan, Woodstock, and Westmount as well as ours.

Walter Haynes, Service
Officer, Park Ridge.

Finest of Their Kind

In the northern Allegheny region the finest of all rhododendrons is the magnificent American rhododendron or rose bay, says Nature Magazine. The best of the southern species is the colorful rose-purple California rhododendron.

All-purpose building as memorial

WAR MEMORIAL

Haven't seen any more suggestions for that Arlington Heights war memorial building lately, but am offering my suggestion.

How about a building in connection with and to extend the use of Recreation Park and the Fieldhouse. This building would house a gymnasium to be used for all winter athletic events such as basketball, indoor baseball, etc.

This building would also contain several club rooms which might be available at a normal rental to any veteran's organization which might wish to use them for a more or less permanent home.

The club rooms might also be used as game rooms for the use of all at a small fee for the use of equipment.

A year round youth center might also be accommodated.

Such a building, through rentals, could be mainly self-supporting, and would not be a large continual drain on the taxpayers.

BLACKBIRDS

The folks up on North Benton and North Hale streets in Palatine are again having their annual experience with the blackbird invasion. For several years thousands of these birds have made their roosting place in the trees up in that neighborhood and the noise they make is something appalling. And also the mess they make and the damage they do. Every evening they descend in flocks into the cherry trees of the neighborhood and do plenty of damage to the crop.

The birds came early this year having been on the job now for several weeks and they will no doubt be there until the frost takes all the leaves off the trees. The people up there have tried everything they can think of to drive them out but they keep coming back to the home roost just the same.

If you see a big flock of blackbirds, even miles away, heading in that direction, you'd know where they were headed for. After feeding all day in the fields and swamps they head home as dusk begins to fall and they pour into those trees literally by the thousands. If anyone knows of a way to make them move the folks up on Palatine's north side would sure like to hear about it.

We started to go into the Bockelman hardware store in Palatine the other day and were stopped by all the closing signs in the door until we could figure out whether or not the place was open. Bill stood inside and watched us reading those signs, "We close Wednesday at 12", "Closed Saturdays at 6 p.m." etc. When we finally got inside Bill says, "You're as bad as the fellow the other day who told me he wished I'd put one sign in the door saying just when we are open."

Well with supplies hard to get, making it impossible for merchants to satisfy their patrons, why shouldn't they close as early and as often as they want and get away from it all for awhile?

GETTING READY

The boys of the Palatine fire department are getting ready for their annual summer festival and from what chief Wesley Comfort tells us it's going to take on the aspects of a real old time, before the war, show. The boys have secured a whole flock of high class merchandise for prizes and that ever popular bingo game will have all the old time nigh class prizes of years ago on the shelves.

And in the eats department they have also pulled a rabbit out of the hat somehow or other and are assuring the public of an ample supply of good food. How they do all these things we don't pretend to know. Maybe it's a case of the old saying that "It isn't what you know but who you know that counts."

But those fellows sure have got the "what you know" when it comes to running a successful festival and with old tried and true merchandise prizes and plenty of good eats also they seem to have the inside track on "who you know." Anyway you can lay 30-12-6 that they'll put on a real show with all the trimmings, something that will be looked forward to by the people of this territory, with a feeling of anticipation and the knowledge that they're going to have a big time and all for a good cause.

POTATO CROP

The potato crop in this area promises to be a bumper one this year. A lot of home gardeners have been eating their new crop since July 1. The question a few weeks ago when the vines were making such a healthy growth was, "Is there anything under them?" Well that question has been answered.

There are plenty under them and a fine crop of good potatoes are in prospect. And Bill Garms, old time farmer and gardener, says "Where are the bugs?" Bill has a big patch of fine potatoes and says he's only seen one potato bug all season. Well last week we called this a bugless year and so far it's been pretty close to just that.

VACATION

Several weeks ago the editor said we were on a vacation and proceeded to ghost write this column and pull his wife's sunflowers thinking they were weeds and in general getting the column and himself in bad.

Now we are on vacation but this column is written up for two weeks and no ghost writers thank you.

No we're not going fishing in the North woods, nor taking any trips to Florida or California or anything like that. Old Chicago land offers the greatest vacation opportunities in the country, only a lot of folks can't see them because they're so close to home. There may be a ball game or two in our program, and there are still some things in Chicago we'd like to see. And then there is always Arlington Park with its cool shady paddock where there's always a breeze on the hottest days.

Anyhow we're on vacation from reporting for a couple weeks and wouldn't even say hello to a story if it were thrown into our lap. And no ghost story from the editorial office. We've written the column two weeks in advance to keep out the "ringers."

Burglars blast safe, $25 loot, at Arlington garage

Our usually quiet village (Arlington Heights) was startled Thursday morning to find that real burglars had entered the Arlington Garage during the night, found his machinist tools, drilled the door of his safe, shattered it with a charge of nitro-glycerine and stolen the contents, over $25 in money and valuable papers, including his life insurance policy.

The thieves must have been familiar with the town and knew we had no night watchman. They had probably watched L. W. Roehler making change and knowing that he sells automobiles, thought they would make a big haul from his safe.

The thieves had evidently prowled around the shop and knew where to lay their hands on the auto drill which was found next day across the street. The three safe drawers and many papers were scattered about E. Greenberg's outhouse where the thieves probably sorted over their plunder.

Moral of this: Our citizens and property ought to be protected by two or more police on duty all night, especially while so many strangers are in town.

Bees cause commotion

Fred Geils of West Maine has been very busy lately catching bees. Wednesday he was called to help Henry Goede catch a swarm, but the bees didn't like being caught and stung some of the catchers.

Friday he caught a swarm for Martin Beer; they worked all afternoon to get them out of the chimney.

Saturday morning he was after two swarms at his son, George's place, but caught only one. The other swarm settled in a tree at August Holt's farm.

Sunday morning Fred was again called to catch a swarm at Melvin Poyer's and Henry Goede's but this swarm wasn't caught as it flew faster than Fred's Ford could go.

Itasca car in narrow escape

What might have proven to be a serious accident occurred Monday evening at Behrens corner, west of Des Plaines. The Wm. Droegemueller and Rev. Zersen families of Itasca were riding in the former's 7-passenger Moline - Knight when another car ran into them at a crossroad, tipping their car over. All the occupants were badly cut and had to be brought home.

Arlington Heights village board, with everyone present except trustee Sigwalt, approved vouchers for the finance committee's payroll and bills. Some of those included:

F. W. Gieseke, matches, 50c.
Chicago Telephone Co., service, $1.50.
Chris Wilke, lamp lighter, $14.00.
Harry Baker, lamp lighter, $14.00.

Mt. Prospect 4th celebration

Mt. Prospect has its own quiet way of observing the fourth of July. On that day the Frauenverein gave a picnic on the school grounds. Although the financial side was not lost sight of, there was no barking or molesting.

Children sang songs, choir gave several selections, and though the parade was small, it was unique with the horseback riding.

AROUND the CORNER

Dear Jane:

There's nothing like amusing theatre critics to take your mind off the weather, I always say. Especially, if the critics review the same show on the same night and succeed in turning out exactly opposite opinions in their next day columns! It makes it so easy for people to decide whether or not they will get their four dollars and forty cents worth. Though heaven knows, I, for one, wouldn't spend ten cents to hear Mae West's perennial 'invitation'.

Here's an example of what I mean about critics. Both of the following men write for cosmopolitan evening papers. They were both present at the opening of, "Come On Up (Ring Twice)" at the Selwyn. One of them writes: "Mae West a hit in 'Come Up'". The other critic says "Mae's 'Come Up' fails to ring at all!"

"Mae brought her new play to the Selwyn last night to a packed, cheering audience. (Other critic): "I was so bored that I spent most of the evening diligently studying my program, and can easily tell you the name of the house Doctor, the make of the piano used, the costume cleaners, the location of all the exits in the house."

"Laughing with Miss Mae West may be vulgar, yet it is honest vulgarity and there's nothing wrong with that." (Other critic:) "Unfortunately, this time our Miss West was done wrong by a trio of writers who have concocted the most tasteless, pointless and witless imitation of a bedroom farce since Mable's room was repapered. It is not even good dirt, in the Rebelaisian sense."

"Miss West's supporting players are generally excellent. Harold Bostwick is very funny as the astronomer and we nominate for the best part this year Willie Claire as the perfect ass of a senator." (Other critic:) "To add to the slinky siren's troubles, she has been provided with the most inept supporting cast this side of the international dateline, including two servants who set my teeth on edge every time they made an entrance, a Latin general who looks and acts like a recent graduate of a barber college, and an absent-minded astronomer who takes top honors for the most rancid performance for the season."

"Laugh's ten a minute. Some one says: "You look good and tired." Mae replies: "No, just tired." It isn't what she says, it is how she says it." (Other critic:) "As a fair sample of the kind of humor rampant last night, here are two alleged jokes I jotted down. "You must be good and tired," her fiance says to Mae. "Just tired," she purrs back. Another gem: "You must use discrimination," the cook warns the maid. "Use it — I can't even say it," the maid replies.

"Mae West's show is outrageously funny, full of hilarious lines, well-staged and certainly ideal summer fare for anyone. Mae has never been better — not even in "Diamond Lil." (Other critic:) "For any fellow who is planning to take his girl to a show next Saturday night, old Sidney J. Greeley's advice is — don't go West young man"!

See what I mean about critics, Jane? You can't trust the critters.

With love, Mary.

READING & WRITING

BY Edwin Seaver AND Robin McKown

HERE'S summer reading for murder mystery fans—Will Cuppy's anthology of crime, titled "Murder Without Tears." As the title implies, these pieces dwell on murder as entertainment, rather than as tragedy; some of the stories are downright funny.

WILL CUPPY

There are twenty-eight selections in all, some true, some fictional. One of the contributions is Edmund Pearson's "Rules for Murderesses." "A woman with fair opportunities," Thackeray said, "and without an absolute hump, may marry whom she likes." This is an understatement, comments Mr. Pearson. "A woman's privileges are even greater—for if she will observe a few restrictions, she may murder whom she likes."

Among the lady murderers Mr. Pearson talks about is Mrs. Augusta Fullam, famous for one crisp and cryptic phrase, "So the only thing is to poison the soup." Another is nurse Jane Toppan, a motherly soul beaming with health and good spirits, whose patients, no matter how trivial their ailments, mysteriously died as the result of her solicitude. Again, there was Mrs. Botkin of California, who sent sweet chocolates flavored with strychnine to her rival.

No collection of crime would be complete without Mrs. Belle Gunness, the 200-pound siren of Indiana, who advertised for husbands in matrimonial journals—husbands who could help this little widow pay off the mortgage on her farm. The sad fate of these applicants is history. Mr. Cuppy lets Stewart Holbrook tell the story again in his piece, "Belle of Indiana."

There's a dual selection for September from the Book-of-the-Month Club—"The Sudden Guest," by Christopher LaFarge, a story set in New England about a selfish and self-centered woman, and George Orwell's short satiric parable about Soviet Russia, "Animal Farm."

In "It Happened in 1945," editor Clark Kinnaird reports this astounding event of last year: "On May 21, at 12:40 p.m., there was a silence in the Senate for five minutes. Up rose Senator Tobey to remark: 'Mr. President, I think it should be recorded for posterity that there was a moment, even though a brief one, when no U. S. Senator had anything on his chest.'"

It Happened Here

"I know how to play those games," said little Patsy, thoughtfully, "but I don't know how to win." There you are, that's it in a nutshell, the know-how to win in all of life's competitions! It may be love, art, letters, business, gambling or perhaps just a beauty contest or who shall be Queen of Paducah or maybe playing the races, how to win is the snag. There are also such heart breaking things as grades and such hideous atrocities as wars and since we can't all win, why not try a little team work or a competition in which there is a chance for all. For instance, why not strive for better citizenship, for a realization of the ideals on which our nation was founded? And we may start right here in our own little community, winning blue ribbons for neighborliness, for kindness and a due regard for the rights and comfort of others. Set an example in keeping up your own house and premises and such an example is as contagious as chickenpox. A glance out of the window, assures us that Mrs. C. is competing with Mrs. S. in the number of lines she can fill with a dazzling, colorful wash.

Your weekly treat recipe

Last week I gave you my recipe for buttermilk biscuits. This week's recipe for Old Fashioned Meat Pie uses buttermilk biscuits for its top. Meat Pie is a nourishing main dish that will satisfy the hungriest member of your family. If you use fresh vegetables from your garden, you'll make the dish even tastier.

Old Fashioned Meat Pie

2 cups diced leftover meat (beef or beef and pork)
2 cups meat stock thickened with 2 tablespoons flour or 2 cups leftover gravy (thin)
3 medium sliced carrots
6 small onions
3 medium potatoes (sliced)
½ cup cooked peas, if desired

Heat all together and cook slowly for 15 minutes. Pour into a casserole buttered and top with buttermilk biscuits.

Aids Eyesight

THE MAILMAN'S CORNER

by Leland Ellis Truxell

Glen is one of those persons who never speaks without trying to arouse the anger or injure the feelings of others. It is as habitual with him as eating or sleeping. And it would take someone with the emotional skin of an elephant not to be hurt by some of the things that Glen says and does.

I have often wondered why Glen is that way. Such an attitude toward others is incongruous with the man as I know him. He is ambitious, a very respectable person, and quite intelligent. He is likeable, too— but he can not resist the temptation to make "dirty digs" that get under the skin and irritate.

Once one of our mutual friends came to me with a remark that Glen had made about his family life. It seems that at a party where there was much good natured bantering of husbands and wives, Glen let one of his pointed barbs fly.

"The trouble with you, Joe", he told my friend. "Is that you do not appreciate your wife's beauty because you are so disappointed with your own homely looks."

"It wasn't the thing that he said," Joe added. "But it was knowing that he meant it to hurt, and got pleasure out of the discomfort that it caused me. Glen knows how deep my affections are for my wife. Another person could have said the same thing without injuring my feelings in the least."

And that was the whole trouble. Why is it that some people enjoy inflicting pain on others? Is there some deep psychological hunger underlying their words and actions that pain in others satisfies? A sort of sadism that seeks gratification by feasting on other people's unhappiness?

Or is it a complex that seeks to justify some secret sense of inferiority within their own souls, some undeveloped or warped quirk of personality that prompts them to gain pleasure from another's misery?

Whatever it is, it is an unsocial and cruel way of gaining pleasure at the expense of others. Good natured kidding is all right. But caustic and satirical remarks made purely from a desire to injure others, is cruel and inhuman.

Saving bonds still on market

June sales of Savings Bonds in Illinois exceeded $53,000,000,000, Arnold J. Rauen, State Director of the Treasury's U. S. Savings Bond Division announced today.

"The steady demand for 'America's Number One Investment' is demonstrated by the figures for the three types of Savings Bonds. Series E sales reached $29,096,210.75, Series F $2,062,649.00, and Series G $22,213,500.00, for a state total of $53,362,359.75 for the month," said Mr. Rauen.

MEAT LINE

The housewife had been standing in line at the meat counter in a local chain store for some time. As she stood there pork, no limit to the number of pounds each customer purchased, was going thick and fast. About ten minutes before her number was called she saw a big leg of veal being taken into the back room. When her number was called all the pork was gone so she asked the butcher if there was any chance of getting a veal roast. He asked her to wait while he went into the back room to inquire.

The butcher returned with a small piece of veal, maybe 2½ pounds, including a big knuckle, saying this was all they had. The housewife raised her eyebrows saying, "Not ten minutes ago I saw another butcher take a big leg of veal in the backroom."

"Well", replied the butcher, "That's what he's going to take a piece off for his own use."

The housewife glared. "You mean to tell me he's going to take that meat home when there are customers here who haven't had a decent piece of meat in months?"

"Wouldn't you if you were a butcher, after all, we have to eat too," he said.

"Don't hand me that line," she angrily retorted. "You fellows certainly never get neglected on the meat situation. I haven't had any meat in my home for three months and I WANT a decent roast off that leg of veal NOW."

With that the butcher returned to the back room, bringing back the other butcher and the big leg of veal, which weighed 10 or 11 pounds.

"After all", said the housewife, "I don't want all of that but I do think I'm entitled to a good sized roast off it."

The lady took home a six lb. roast, which, after eating that evening, her family commented, "Golly, those butchers sure eat good."

FIRST TOMATO

I don't know whether I've been spoofed about your newspaper's interest in the first ripe tomato in Palatine — and ours may not be the first, but we have one! Unless the wind blows it off, it is on display on the vine in our garden.

Vivian Cosby,
Palatine.

RIGHT OF WAY

Apparently hurt pride comes before the fall of the out of town lassies where a certain Palatine officer is concerned. We wouldn't have believed this if we hadn't seen it happen.

A young lady was driving down Northwest highway when a police car cut in front of her, coming from Palatine road, causing the lady to swerve from her lane.

Naturally, looking out for her safety and that of her accompanying offspring, she tried to honk the squad car over.

Instead of observing all laws of right-of-way, the policeman swerved in to the middle lane, just as I came along in another car, muttering under my breath about the driver who had bent the elbow just once too often.

After generally messing things up, the cop waved the young lady over and proceeded to dish it out hot and heavy. From what we could gather, his main argument was the statement that "policemen always have the right of way".

If that is so, I think I'll stay right in bed, unendangered by policemen whose blood pressure is higher than their sense of reason.

Lady motorist.

VETS HELP

The other day I had a visitor from Itasca who was attracted to our Park Ridge office by an article in the DuPage County Register which you print. We were very pleased to serve this veteran, but it was quite a distance for him to travel, and he should properly be served by a similar office in DuPage located at 126 West Burlington Street in Westmount.

We are very appreciative of the fine cooperation you have given our project and publicity in your papers, but for any papers serving other than Cook County other service offices should be suggested for the convenience of the veterans, and your organization should be on the mailing lists of the respective offices in Waukegan, Woodstock, and Westmount as well as ours.

All-purpose building as memorial

WAR MEMORIAL

Haven't seen any more suggestions for that Arlington Heights war memorial building lately, but am offering my suggestion.

How about a building in connection with and to extend the use of Recreation Park and the Fieldhouse. This building would house a gymnasium to be used for all winter athletic events such as basketball, indoor baseball, etc.

This building would also contain several club rooms which might be available at a normal rental to any veteran's organization which might wish to use them for a more or less permanent home.

The club rooms might also be used as game rooms for the use of all at a small fee for the use of equipment.

A year round youth center might also be accommodated.

Such a building, through rentals, could be mainly self-supporting, and would not be a large continual drain on the taxpayers.

It makes it so easy for people to decide whether or not they will get their four dollars and forty cents worth. Though heaven knows, I, for one, wouldn't spend ten cents to hear Mae West's perennial 'invitation'.

Here's an example of what I mean about critics. Both of the following men write for cosmopolitan evening papers. They were both present at the opening of, "Come On Up (Ring Twice)" at the Selwyn. One of them writes: "Mae West a hit in 'Come Up'". The other critic says: "Mae's 'Come Up' fails to ring at all!"

"Mae brought her new play to the Selwyn last night to a packed, cheering audience. (Other critic): "I was so bored that I spent most of the evening diligently studying my program, and can easily tell you the name of the house Doctor, the make of the piano used, the costume cleaners, the location of all the exits in the house."

"Laughing with Miss Mae West may be vulgar, yet it is honest vulgarity and there's nothing wrong with that." (Other critic:) "Unfortunately, this time our Miss West was done wrong by a trio of writers who have concocted the most tasteless, pointless and witless imitation of a bedroom farce since Mable's room was repapered. It is not even good dirt, in the Rebelaisian sense."

"Miss West's supporting players are generally excellent. Harold Bostwick is very funny as the astronomer and we nominate for the best part this year Willie Claire as the perfect ass of a senator." (Other critic:) "To add to the slinky siren's troubles, she has been provided with the most inept supporting cast this side of the international dateline, including two servants who set my teeth on edge every time they made an entrance, a Latin general who looks and acts like a recent graduate of a barber college, and an absent-minded astronomer who takes top honors for the most rancid performance for the season."

"Laugh's ten a minute. Some one says: "You look good and tired." Mae replies: "No, just tired." It isn't what she says, it is how she says it." (Other critic:) "As a fair sample of the kind of humor rampant last night, here are two alleged jokes I jotted down. "You must be good and tired," her fiance says to Mae. "Just tired," she purrs back. Another gem: "You must use discrimination," the cook warns the maid. "Use it — I can't even say it," the maid replies.

"Mae West's show is outrageously funny, full of hilarious lines, well-staged and certainly ideal summer fare for anyone. Mae has never been better — not even in "Diamond Lil." (Other critic:) "For any fellow who is planning to take his girl to a show next Saturday night, old Sidney J. Greeley's advice is — don't go West young man"!

See what I mean about critics, Jane? You can't trust the critters.

BY Edwin Seaver AND Robin McKown

HERE'S summer reading for murder mystery fans—Will Cuppy's anthology of crime, titled "Murder Without Tears." As the title implies, these pieces dwell on murder as entertainment, rather than as tragedy; some of the stories are downright funny.

WILL CUPPY

There are twenty-eight selections in all, some true, some fictional. One of the contributions is Edmund Pearson's "Rules for Murderesses." "A woman with fair opportunities," Thackeray said, "and without an absolute hump, may marry whom she likes." This is an understatement, comments Mr. Pearson. "A woman's privileges are even greater—for if she will observe a few restrictions, she may murder whom she likes."

Among the lady murderers Mr. Pearson talks about is Mrs. Augusta Fullam, famous for one crisp and cryptic phrase, "So the only thing is to poison the soup." Another is nurse Jane Toppan, a motherly soul beaming with health and good spirits, whose patients, no matter how trivial their ailments, mysteriously died as the result of her solicitude. Again, there was Mrs. Botkin of California, who sent sweet chocolates flavored with strychnine to her rival.

No collection of crime would be complete without Mrs. Belle Gunness, the 200-pound siren of Indiana, who advertised for husbands in matrimonial journals—husbands who could help this little widow pay off the mortgage on her farm. The sad fate of these applicants is history. Mr. Cuppy lets Stewart Holbrook tell the story again in his piece, "Belle of Indiana."

There's a dual selection for September from the Book-of-the-Month Club—"The Sudden Guest," by Christopher LaFarge, a story set in New England about a selfish and self-centered woman, and George Orwell's short satiric parable about Soviet Russia, "Animal Farm."

In "It Happened in 1945," editor Clark Kinnaird reports this astounding event of last year: "On May 21, at 12:40 p.m., there was a silence in the Senate for five minutes. Up rose Senator Tobey to remark: 'Mr. President, I think it should be recorded for posterity that there was a moment, even though a brief one, when no U. S. Senator had anything on his chest.'"

It Happened Here

"I know how to play those games," said little Patsy, thoughtfully, "but I don't know how to win." There you are, that's it in a nutshell, the know-how to win in all of life's competitions! It may be love, art, letters, business, gambling or perhaps just a beauty contest or who shall be Queen of Paducah or maybe playing the races, how to win is the snag. There are also such heart breaking things as grades and such hideous atrocities as wars and since we can't all win, why not try a little team work or a competition in which there is a chance for all. For instance, why not strive for better citizenship, for a realization of the ideals on which our nation was founded? And we may start right here in our own little community, winning blue ribbons for neighborliness, for kindness and a due regard for the rights and comfort of others. Set an example in keeping up your own house and premises and such an example is as contagious as chickenpox. A glance out of the window, assures us that Mrs. C. is competing with Mrs. S. in the number of lines she can fill with a dazzling, colorful wash.

Your weekly treat recipe

Last week I gave you my recipe for buttermilk biscuits. This week's recipe for Old Fashioned Meat Pie uses buttermilk biscuits for its top. Meat Pie is a nourishing main dish that will satisfy the hungriest member of your family. If you use fresh vegetables from your garden, you'll make the dish even tastier.

Old Fashioned Meat Pie

2 cups diced leftover meat (beef or beef and pork)
2 cups meat stock thickened with 2 tablespoons flour or 2 cups leftover gravy (thin)
3 medium sliced carrots
6 small onions
3 medium potatoes (sliced)
½ cup cooked peas, if desired

Aids Eyesight

Burglars blast safe, $25 loot, at Arlington garage

Our usually quiet village (Arlington Heights) was startled Thursday morning to find that real burglars had entered the Arlington Garage during the night, found his machinist tools, drilled the door of his safe, shattered it with a charge of nitro-glycerine and stolen the contents, over $25 in money and valuable papers, including his life insurance policy.

The thieves must have been familiar with the town and knew we had no night watchman. They had probably watched L. W. Roehler making change and knowing that he sells automobiles, thought they would make a big haul from his safe.

The thieves had evidently prowled around the shop and knew where to lay their hands on the auto drill which was found next day across the street. The three safe drawers and many papers were scattered about E. Greenberg's outhouse where the thieves probably sorted over their plunder.

Moral of this: Our citizens and property ought to be protected by two or more police on duty all night, especially while so many strangers are in town.

Bees cause commotion

Fred Geils of West Maine has been very busy lately catching bees. Wednesday he was called to help Henry Goede catch a swarm, but the bees didn't like being caught and stung some of the catchers.

Friday he caught a swarm for Martin Beer; they worked all afternoon to get them out of the chimney.

Saturday morning he was after two swarms at his son, George's place, but caught only one. The other swarm settled in a tree at August Holt's farm.

Sunday morning Fred was again called to catch a swarm at Melvin Poyer's and Henry Goede's but this swarm wasn't caught as it flew faster than Fred's Ford could go.

Itasca car in narrow escape

What might have proven to be a serious accident occurred Monday evening at Behrens corner, west of Des Plaines. The Wm. Droegemueller and Rev. Zersen families of Itasca were riding in the former's 7-passenger Moline - Knight when another car ran into them at a crossroad, tipping their car over. All the occupants were badly cut and had to be brought home.

Mt. Prospect 4th celebration

Mt. Prospect has its own quiet way of observing the fourth of July. On that day the Frauenverein gave a picnic on the school grounds. Although the financial side was not lost sight of, there was no barking or molesting.

Children sang songs, choir gave several selections, and though the parade was small, it was unique with the horseback riding.

THE MAILMAN'S CORNER

by Leland Ellis Truxell

Glen is one of those persons who never speaks without trying to arouse the anger or injure the feelings of others. It is as habitual with him as eating or sleeping. And it would take someone with the emotional skin of an elephant not to be hurt by some of the things that Glen says and does.

I have often wondered why Glen is that way. Such an attitude toward others is incongruous with the man as I know him. He is ambitious, a very respectable person, and quite intelligent. He is likeable, too— but he can not resist the temptation to make "dirty digs" that get under the skin and irritate.

Once one of our mutual friends came to me with a remark that Glen had made about his family life. It seems that at a party where there was much good natured bantering of husbands and wives, Glen let one of his pointed barbs fly.

"The trouble with you, Joe", he told my friend. "Is that you do not appreciate your wife's beauty because you are so disappointed with your own homely looks."

"It wasn't the thing that he said," Joe added. "But it was knowing that he meant it to hurt, and got pleasure out of the discomfort that it caused me. Glen knows how deep my affections are for my wife. Another person could have said the same thing without injuring my feelings in the least."

And that was the whole trouble. Why is it that some people enjoy inflicting pain on others? Is there some deep psychological hunger underlying their words and actions that pain in others satisfies? A sort of sadism that seeks gratification by feasting on other people's unhappiness?

Or is it a complex that seeks to justify some secret sense of inferiority within their own souls, some undeveloped or warped quirk of personality that prompts them to gain pleasure from another's misery?

Whatever it is, it is an unsocial and cruel way of gaining pleasure at the expense of others. Good natured kidding is all right. But caustic and satirical remarks made purely from a desire to injure others, is cruel and inhuman.

Saving bonds still on market

June sales of Savings Bonds in Illinois exceeded $53,000,000,000, Arnold J. Rauen, State Director of the Treasury's U. S. Savings Bond Division announced today.

"The steady demand for 'America's Number One Investment' is demonstrated by the figures for the three types of Savings Bonds. Series E sales reached $29,096,210.75, Series F $2,052,649.00, and Series G $22,213,500.00, for a state total of $53,362,359.75 for the month," said Mr. Rauen.

In the future

THINGS TO COME — A windshield wiper to clean curved glass . . . New bookends which have the appearance of polished ebony and are decorated with a white onyx cameo. They are made of plastic . . . A new sweatband for hats and helmets, made of synthetic sponge which has absorbent qualities . . . A synthetic fibre for use in lining packing cases and cartons. It is impregnated to keep out moisture and to resist temperature changes. It is tough and flexible . . . An electronic device for garages and service stations which shows whether wheels are in alignment . . . A new kind of radio instrument which detects counterfeit coins, imitation diamonds and impurities in many types of solids, liquids and gases . . . A new water-repellent material to be applied to certain types of flourescent lamps to combat high humidity . . . A new liquid soapless cleaner for kitchens. A thimbleful will wash the dinner dishes. Deplore feeding dead animals to the hogs

Warnings against the dangers of feeding dead animal cercasses to hogs have been issued recently by several important State and University officials. This practice, returning in some sections of this state, has brought out these pertinent facts from Prof. Robert Greham, head of the Animal Pathology and Hygiene Department at the University of Illinois, Urbana:

"I know of no surer way to spread disease on the farm than the feeding of carcasses of dead animals. In order to prevent diseases spread from this source, deep burial, burning, or carefully removing such carcasses to rendering plants equipped to handle and destroy such infection are recommended."

Some farmers apparently do not recognize the dangers resulting from this practice; dangers that involve the health of other livestock on the farm, the farmer and his family, as well as the consumer of pork products. Authoritative information comes from Dr. C. E. Fidler, Superintendent of the Division of Livestock Industry in the Department of Agriculture at Springfield. Dr. Fidler states:

"There are many diseases that may be transmitted to livestock by feeding carcasses of animals that have died of such diseases as Anthrax, Rabies, Anaplasmosis, Hemorrhagic Septicemia, Brucellosis, Erysipelas, Black Leg, and others."

The legality of feeding animal carcasses to hogs is clearly expressed in these remarks from Mr. Arnold P. Benson, Director of the Department of Agriculture in Springfield:

"The Illinois Statutes to be found in Illinois Revised Statutes, 1945, Dead Animal Disposal Law two sections of which, Section 1 and Section 2, provide for the regulation and business of disposing of the bodies of dead animals and also the requirements that are made of the persons engaged in that type of business. Sub-Section 5 of Section 2 states very definitely that no uncooked carcasses or portions of carcasses shall be fed to any livestock, which indicates clearly that such a practice is a violation of the Illinois law. Section 17 also provides that dead animals shall be disposed of within 24 hours after death by cooking, burying or burning, or be disposed of within said time to a person licensed to so dispose of it."

There is little, if any, justifiable reasoning in the idea that feeding dead animal carcasses to hogs is the easiest for the farmer. When the dangers to health are thoughtfully considered, this practice becomes even more serious — more deplorable.

Every community is served by a local rendering company whose job it is to pick up and remove dead stock. These renderers are licensed by the State of Illinois. Animal carcasses must be disposed of at the renderers in accordance with the rules and regulations set forth by the State. When your local renderer removes dead stock, he is also removing the possibility of spreading diseases. The State Department of Health urges every farmer to use only the correct, legal, and safe methods of disposing of stock that has died on his farm.

Prompt, Proper Cooling Preserves Quality Vital to High Grade Milk

By IRA MILLER
Farm Electrification Bureau

Top quality in milk, the preservation of which is as important as its initial achievement, depends upon milk being properly and promptly cooled shortly after Bossie has made her contribution to the nation's food welfare.

The advantages of healthy herds, the use of clean, sterilized dairy utensils and sound farm management practices, can slip out of a farmer's grasp as easily as a greased pig at the county fair, unless milk is cooled below 50 degrees within approximately an hour and a half after milking time.

Milk is cooled on farms in one of three ways: by water, ice or mechanical refrigeration. Just as storm cellars cannot function adequately as storage places for perishable farm produce, so water alone cannot perform the job expected of it in cooling milk to a point where bacteria growth is halted. The addition of ice to water, often proves too costly even when a sufficient supply is available. Tests show that from 75 to 175 pounds of ice are needed to cool and store 40 gallons of milk per day in summer weather, bringing the cost of cooling, in some instances, to as much as $40 per month.

Faced with uncertain results on one hand and high costs on the other, most farmers have turned from ice and water to electricity as a more economical, time and labor saving method for solving their milk cooling problem. Electric milk coolers are of two general types — "wet" and "dry." The first type employs electrically chilled water, automatically kept at the proper cooling temperature by thermostatic control. The "dry" cooler requires an aerator for cooling the milk, which is then stored in a refrigerated compartment. Often the refrigerated compartment is large enough to be of the "walk-in" variety, suitable for the cold storage of meat, poultry, eggs, fruit and vegetables, in addition to milk.

In immersion coolers, milk cans are placed in insulated tanks, filled to the proper depth with "refrigerated" water. A number of coolers of this type are equipped with agitators, which circulate the water, thus providing more rapid transfer of heat from the milk. In aerator coolers, milk passes over a corrugated, metal shield, which is cooled by a constant flow of temperature-controlled water, kept in motion by electricity.

The operating cost of electrical milk coolers averages about 1 kilowatt hour of power per 40 quarts. One mid-western farmer figures he spends $1.71 per month for electricity to cool 193 cans of milk in his 6-can immersion cooler.

Sugar beet harvesters go mechanical

Over 100 mechanical sugar beet harvesters will be in use in Michigan and Ohio this coming fall, doing the work of approximately 1,000 field hands harvesting about ten per cent of the entire crop, according to Glenn R. Larke, Sugar Beet Journal editor.

The use of sugar beet combines will be an important factor in harvesting this year's larger-than-average crop, he said. About 100,000 tons of sugar beets from 10,000 acres will be harvested mechanically, saving approximately 150,000 man-hours of labor and much hard work.

The sugar beet harvesters are in reality a combine, Larke said, for they lift, top and load in one continuous operation. Each will handle four to five acres per eight-hour day, and up to 100 acres per season.

Many farmers are now using mechanical loaders. There are types that load out of either pile or windrow, and are liked because they save on labor costs, time and work, he said.

State cattlemen face new hazard says specialist

Anaplasmosis, a cattle disease rarely seen in Illinois until four or five years ago, is now not uncommon in some of the southern counties, observes Dr. J. A. Henderson of the University of Illinois College of Veterinary Medicine.

He says that anaplasmosis "... is an infectious disease caused by microscopic organisms called protozoa, which get into the blood stream and attack the red cells."

Symptoms of anaemia, loss of flesh, weakness and jaundice appear in the infected animal. The jaundice is easily spotted by looking for a yellowish discoloration of the skin especially around the head and udder. The white of the eyes will usually reveal it, he points out.

Cows contracting anaplasmosis sometimes die within 24 hours. Usually they linger for two or three days, and some even recover. Animals recovering from anaplasmosis, however, should be slaughtered because they become carriers and may infect healthy animals. The meat of animals which have recovered from the disease is not harmful to humans.

The disease is spread by flies and ticks and on occasions by such instruments as dehorners or vaccinating needles. The best prevention is to control flies and insects and to use adequate sanitary precautions when such operations as dehorning and vaccinating are performed.

Deplore feeding dead animals to the hogs

Warnings against the dangers of feeding dead animal carcasses to hogs have been issued recently by several important State and University officials. This practice, returning in some sections of this state, has brought out these pertinent facts from Prof. Robert Greham, head of the Animal Pathology and Hygiene Department at the University of Illinois, Urbana:

"I know of no surer way to spread disease on the farm than the feeding of carcasses of dead animals. In order to prevent diseases spread from this source, deep burial, burning, or carefully removing such carcasses to rendering plants equipped to handle and destroy such infection are recommended."

Some farmers apparently do not recognize the dangers resulting from this practice; dangers that involve the health of other livestock on the farm, the farmer and his family, as well as the consumer of pork products. Authoritative information comes from Dr. C. E. Fidler, Superintendent of the Division of Livestock Industry in the Department of Agriculture at Springfield. Dr. Fidler states:

"There are many diseases that may be transmitted to livestock by feeding carcasses of animals that have died of such diseases as Anthrax, Rabies, Anaplasmosis, Hemorrhagic Septicemia, Brucellosis, Erysipelas, Black Leg, and others."

The legality of feeding animal carcasses to hogs is clearly expressed in these remarks from Mr. Arnold P. Benson, Director of the Department of Agriculture in Springfield:

"The Illinois Statutes to be found in Illinois Revised Statutes, 1945, Dead Animal Disposal Law two sections of which, Section I and Section 2, provide for the regulation and business of disposing of the bodies of dead animals and also the requirements that are made of the persons engaged in that type of business. Sub-Section 5 of Section 2 states very definitely that no uncooked carcasses or portions of carcasses shall be fed to any livestock, which indicates clearly that such a practice is a violation of the Illinois law. Section 17 also provides that dead animals shall be disposed of within 24 hours after death by cooking, burying or burning, or be disposed of within said time to a person licensed to so dispose of it."

There is little, if any, justifiable reasoning in the idea that feeding dead animal carcasses to hogs is the easiest for the farmer. When the dangers to health are thoughtfully considered, this practice becomes even more serious — more deplorable.

Every community is served by a local rendering company whose job it is to pick up and remove dead stock. These renderers are licensed by the State of Illinois. Animal carcasses must be disposed of at the renderers in accordance with the rules and regulations set forth by the State. When your local renderer removes dead stock, he is also removing the possibility of spreading diseases. The State Department of Health urges every farmer to use only the correct, legal, and safe methods of disposing of stock that has died on his farm.

Prompt, Proper Cooling Preserves Quality Vital to High Grade Milk

By IRA MILLER
Farm Electrification Bureau

Top quality in milk, the preservation of which is as important as its initial achievement, depends upon milk being properly and promptly cooled shortly after Bossie has made her contribution to the nation's food welfare.

The advantages of healthy herds, the use of clean, sterilized dairy utensils and sound farm management practices, can slip out of a farmer's grasp as easily as a greased pig at the county fair, unless milk is cooled below 50 degrees within approximately an hour and a half after milking time.

Milk is cooled on farms in one of three ways: by water, ice or mechanical refrigeration. Just as storm cellars cannot function adequately as storage places for perishable farm produce, so water alone cannot perform the job expected of it in cooling milk to a point where bacteria growth is halted. The addition of ice to water, often proves too costly even when a sufficient supply is available. Tests show that from 75 to 175 pounds of ice are needed to cool and store 40 gallons of milk per day in summer weather, bringing the cost of cooling, in some instances, to as much as $40 per month.

Faced with uncertain results on one hand and high costs on the other, most farmers have turned from ice and water to electricity as a more economical, time and labor saving method for solving their milk cooling problem. Electric milk coolers are of two general types — "wet" and "dry." The first type employs electrically chilled water, automatically kept at the proper cooling temperature by thermostatic control. The "dry" cooler requires an aerator for cooling the milk, which is then stored in a refrigerated compartment. Often the refrigerated compartment is large enough to be of the "walk-in" variety, suitable for the cold storage of meat, poultry, eggs, fruit and vegetables, in addition to milk.

In immersion coolers, milk cans are placed in insulated tanks, filled to the proper depth with "refrigerated" water. A number of coolers of this type are equipped with agitators, which circulate the water, thus providing more rapid transfer of heat from the milk. In aerator coolers, milk passes over a corrugated, metal shield, which is cooled by a constant flow of temperature-controlled water, kept in motion by electricity.

The operating cost of electrical milk coolers averages about 1 kilowatt hour of power per 40 quarts. One mid-western farmer figures he spends $1.71 per month for electricity to cool 193 cans of milk in his 6-can immersion cooler.

Sugar beet harvesters go mechanical

Over 100 mechanical sugar beet harvesters will be in use in Michigan and Ohio this coming fall, doing the work of approximately 1,000 field hands harvesting about ten per cent of the entire crop, according to Glenn R. Larke, Sugar Beet Journal editor.

The use of sugar beet combines will be an important factor in harvesting this year's larger-than-average crop, he said. About 100,000 tons of sugar beets from 10,000 acres will be harvested mechanically, saving approximately 150,000 man-hours of labor and much hard work.

The sugar beet harvesters are in reality a combine, Larke said, for they lift, top and load in one continuous operation. Each will handle four to five acres per eight-hour day, and up to 100 acres per season.

Many farmers are now using mechanical loaders. There are types that load out of either pile or windrow, and are liked because they save on labor costs, time and work, he said.

State cattlemen face new hazard says specialist

Anaplasmosis, a cattle disease rarely seen in Illinois until four or five years ago, is now not uncommon in some of the southern counties, observes Dr. J. A. Henderson of the University of Illinois College of Veterinary Medicine.

He says that anaplasmosis " . . . is an infectious disease caused by microscopic organisms called protozoa, which get into the blood stream and attack the red cells."

Symptoms of anaemia, loss of flesh, weakness and jaundice appear in the infected animal. The jaundice is easily spotted by looking for a yellowish discoloration of the skin especially around the head and udder. The white of the eyes will usually reveal it, he points out.

Cows contracting anaplasmosis sometimes die within 24 hours. Usually they linger for two or three days, and some even recover. Animals recovering from anaplasmosis, however, should be slaughtered because they become carriers and may infect healthy animals. The meat of animals which have recovered from the disease is not harmful to humans.

The disease is spread by flies and ticks and on occasions by such instruments as dehorners or vaccinating needles. The best prevention is to control flies and insects and to use adequate sanitary precautions when such operations as dehorning and vaccinating are performed.

Hogs good property

The immediate hog price outlook is good, according to L. F. Stice, agricultural economist at the University of Illinois. The intermediate outlook has more uncertainties, Stice says, but he doesn't expect a marked decline in hog prices in the winter of 1946-47. The level of meat exports, the subsidy and price control program and the size of our feed crops in 1946 are the uncertain quantities in the hog price outlook for next winter and spring. Depending on those three factors, some decline in prices might occur next winter; but prices are likely to remain above the support level in any case. The support price remains at $13 for good to choice butcher hogs in Chicago through September 1946. Then it declines to $10.75 in December and gradually increases again to $13.25 in September 1947.

Flight Stewardess

Tact and poise are two attributes, perhaps above all others, which a girl must have to be a success as a flight stewardess. Sometimes, when an applicant is being interviewed for such a job, the examiner will suddenly ask the girl an embarrassing question. If she flusters easily, she won't make a good stewardess.

LAW on the FARM

Cruelty to Animals—Many people, including authorities in the field of animal husbandry, have pointed to the failure of some farmers to afford adequate feed, shelter and footing for farm livestock, especially during bad weather as a cause of economic loss and, in the worst cases, as a species of cruelty to animals.

In 1874 the legislature designated as one of four specific powers given to counties the power " . . . to take all necessary measures and institute proceedings to enforce all laws for the prevention of cruelty to animals." Five years earlier, in 1869, the following provision was made a part of the criminal code: that "whoever shall be guilty of cruelty to any animal in any of the ways mentioned in this section, shall be fined not less than $3, nor more than $200:

"Second, by cruelly working any old, maimed, infirm, sick or disabled animal . . .

"Fourth, by abandoning any old, maimed, infirm, sick, or disabled animal.

"Fifth, by carrying or driving . . . in an unnecessarily cruel manner."

This law has never been repealed and is still effective. It was aimed primarily at abuses to horses in the pre-automobile and pre-tractor days, but is sufficiently comprehensive to cover cruelty to other animals. In 1941 the legislature added a section to this law expressly prohibiting the sale or use of a horse under conditions which would violate the law against cruelty to animals.

Since the passage of this early act, the legislature has made it unlawful for railroads or common carriers to allow animals to be confined for more than 36 hours unless delayed by storm or accident, after which delay they must be fed and watered as soon as possible.

The keeping of pigeons or other fowl to be killed for sport, the mutilation of horses' tails and the maintenance of a place for or the paying of admission to see the fighting or baiting of bulls, bears, dogs, cocks or other creatures are all unlawful. In 1945 a law was enacted to prohibit the barter, sale or gift of living dyed or colored baby chicks, ducklings or other fowl as pets or novelties.

The courts have rendered a few decisions involving certain of these laws. Of interest are decisions of the Illinois appellate courts that killing an animal out of mercy is not cruelty, and that an owner may use reasonable means to drive trespassing animals from his land and, if in so doing injury results, he is not guilty of cruelty to animals.

The law on cruelty to animals may be found in the Illinois Revised Statutes, chapter 38, sections 144-146; chapter 8, sections 109 and 111; and chapter 34, section 24 (4).

Hybrid increases yield 20% in U. S.

In the past 13 years, hybrid corn acreage in the United States has increased from 143 thousand to more than 60 million. The development of hybrid corn marks one of the greatest forward steps in the long history of this crop, says R. W. Jugenheimer, plant geneticist at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture. Planting hybrid corn in the Corn Belt increased yields at least 20 percent over the yield of standard open-pollinated varieties.

Durable Utensils

Thin, lightweight sheet aluminum in pans is less expensive, lighter to handle but also less durable than the heavy cast metal. Thin ware is more easily dented, bent and scorched than heavy ware. Buy heavy pans for such heavy use as everyday cooking, for a job like mashing potatoes, and for the heavy - handed or absent - minded cook.

Rotational grazing will help to provide more pasture forage.

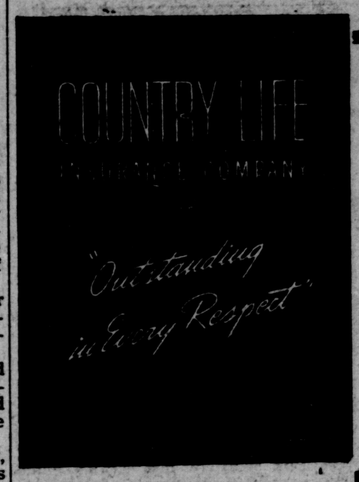

More and better quality forage will result if dairymen permit cows to graze in smaller areas until they are grazed down and then turn them into other similar areas, suggests K. A. Kendall, associate in dairy production at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

In order to supply cows better forage, clipping the weeds in pastures to improve roughage quality is recommended.

"Feeding green corn chopped with a silage harvester will provide forage during August and early September if pastures are short," he reported.

Thinking ahead to next spring, Kendall says: "In many sections of the state this spring pastures were unusually good because of the abundant rainfall, and they have held up exceptionally well. Next spring it might be different. It would be wise to plan this fall for a seeding of winter rye to be used for early pasture next spring. This plan would permit animals to be turned onto the permanent pasture later, and would allow the permanent pasture to get a better start."

Leaders vie in corn growing contest here

Each year brings out a new group of contestants for honors in corn production contests in this area. However, there are also several of the old stand-bys in the running.

Last year Alfred Busse of Wheeling township was high in the list of producers, having a record of 117.51 bushels per acre. He achieved this with DeKalb Hybrid Corn No. 410, purchased through the J. Fred Meyer agency, Arlington Heights. This year his crop is looking fully as good and probably somewhat better than normal, using both DeKalb 410 and also 404-A.

There has been a recurring report that corn borers are again in evidence, but Mr. Busse reports that he has not seen any signs of borer activity so far.

Hogs good property

The immediate hog price outlook is good, according to L. F. Stice, agricultural economist at the University of Illinois. The intermediate outlook has more uncertainties, Stice says, but he doesn't expect a marked decline in hog prices in the winter of 1946-47. The level of meat exports, the subsidy and price control program and the size of our feed crops in 1946 are the uncertain quantities in the hog price outlook for next winter and spring. Depending on those three factors, some decline in prices might occur next winter; but prices are likely to remain above the support level in any case. The support price remains at $13 for good to choice butcher hogs in Chicago through September 1946. Then it declines to $10.75 in December and gradually increases again to $13.25 in September 1947.

Flight Stewardess

Tact and poise are two attributes, perhaps above all others, which a girl must have to be a success as a flight stewardess. Sometimes, when an applicant is being interviewed for such a job, the examiner will suddenly ask the girl an embarrassing question. If she flusters easily, she won't make a good stewardess.

LAW on the FARM

Cruelty to Animals—Many people, including authorities in the field of animal husbandry, have pointed to the failure of some farmers to afford adequate feed, shelter and footing for farm livestock, especially during bad weather as a cause of economic loss and, in the worst cases, as a species of cruelty to animals.

In 1874 the legislature designated as one of four specific powers given to counties the power ". . . to take all necessary measures and institute proceedings to enforce all laws for the prevention of cruelty to animals." Five years earlier, in 1869, the following provision was made a part of the criminal code: that "whoever shall be guilty of cruelty to any animal in any of the ways mentioned in this section, shall be fined not less than $3, nor more than $200:

"First, by overloading, overdriving, overworking, cruelly beating, torturing, tormenting, mutilating, or cruelly killing . . .

"Second, by cruelly working any old, maimed, infirm, sick or disabled animal . . .

"Third, by unnecessarily failing to provide any animal in his charge or custody . . . with proper feed, drink and shelter.

"Fourth, by abandoning any old, maimed, infirm, sick, or disabled animal.

"Fifth, by carrying or driving . . . in an unnecessarily cruel manner."

This law has never been repealed and is still effective. It was aimed primarily at abuses to horses in the pre-automobile and pre-tractor days, but is sufficiently comprehensive to cover cruelty to other animals. In 1941 the legislature added a section to this law expressly prohibiting the sale or use of a horse under conditions which would violate the law against cruelty to animals.

Since the passage of this early act, the legislature has made it unlawful for railroads or common carriers to allow animals to be confined for more than 36 hours unless delayed by storm or accident, after which delay they must be fed and watered as soon as possible.

The keeping of pigeons or other fowl to be killed for sport, the mutilation of horses' tails and the maintenance of a place for or the paying of admission to see the fighting or baiting of bulls, bears, dogs, cocks or other creatures are all unlawful. In 1945 a law was enacted to prohibit the barter, sale or gift of living dyed or colored baby chicks, ducklings or other fowl as pets or novelties.

The courts have rendered a few decisions involving certain of these laws. Of interest are decisions of the Illinois appellate courts that killing an animal out of mercy is not cruelty, and that an owner may use reasonable means to drive trespassing animals from his land and, if in so doing injury results, he is not guilty of cruelty to animals.

The law on cruelty to animals may be found in the Illinois Revised Statutes, chapter 38, sections 144-146; chapter 8, sections 109 and 111; and chapter 34, section 24 (4).

Leaders vie in corn growing contest here

Each year brings out a new group of contestants for honors in corn production contests in this area. However, there are also several of the old stand-bys in the running.

Last year Alfred Busse of Wheeling township was high in the list of producers, having a record of 117.51 bushels per acre. He achieved this with DeKalb Hybrid Corn No. 410, purchased through the J. Fred Meyer agency, Arlington Heights. This year his crop is looking fully as good and probably somewhat better than normal, using both DeKalb 410 and also 404-A.

There has been a recurring report that corn borers are again in evidence, but Mr. Busse reports that he has not seen any signs of borer activity so far.

Indian Cobras

Although Indian cobras kill several thousand people a year, the natives of India often regard cobras with so much superstitious reverence that no attempt is made to destroy the snakes.

Hybrid increases yield 20% in U. S.

In the past 13 years, hybrid corn acreage in the United States has increased from 143 thousand to more than 60 million. The development of hybrid corn marks one of the greatest forward steps in the long history of this crop, says R. W. Jugenheimer, plant geneticist at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture. Planting hybrid corn in the Corn Belt increased yields at least 20 percent over the yield of standard open-pollinated varieties.

Durable Utensils

Thin, lightweight sheet aluminum in pans is less expensive, lighter to handle but also less durable than the heavy cast metal. Thin ware is more easily dented, bent and scorched than heavy ware. Buy heavy pans for such heavy use as everyday cooking, for a job like mashing potatoes, and for the heavy - handed or absent - minded cook.

Rotate pastures for more forage hints dairyman

Rotational grazing will help to provide more pasture forage.

More and better quality forage will result if dairymen permit cows to graze in smaller areas until they are grazed down and then turn them into other similar areas, suggests K. A. Kendall, associate in dairy production at the University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

In order to supply cows better forage, clipping the weeds in pastures to improve roughage quality is recommended.

"Feeding green corn chopped with a silage harvester will provide forage during August and early September if pastures are short," he reported.

Thinking ahead to next spring, Kendall says: "In many sections of the state this spring pastures were unusually good because of the abundant rainfall, and they have held up exceptionally well. Next spring it might be different. It would be wise to plan this fall for a seeding of winter rye to be used for early pasture next spring. This plan would permit animals to be turned onto the permanent pasture later, and would allow the permanent pasture to get a better start."

Glen Ellyn here

Bokelmann vs Schaefer this Sunday in Redwing game

Arlington vs Arlington will be in evidence Sunday afternoon on the Redwing ball field when Dick Bokelmann, former Arlington Heights high school pitcher, appears against the local nine in a contest with his Glen Ellyn mates. Dick was the outstanding pitcher for Northwestern university this past spring, and plenty of people will be on hand to see his arm test the bats of the local Redwings.

Old timers will remember a similar situation back in '28 when Art Dieball, an Arlington boy who was one of the best semi-pro pitchers around Chicago, appeared with Des Plaines. There was a great deal of rivalry at that time between these two towns.

Local fans are in for a real treat as the Redwings try for their twelvth victory of the year, with Bokelman and his mates attempting to deal the Redwings their third loss.

Beat Kenosha

Last Sunday Schaefer held Kenosha to three hits as the Redwings won, 3-1. In the eighth frame the Redwings notched two runs to break a 1-1 deadlock that existed from the second inning. Box score of last week's game, plus batting averages follow:

Arlington nine now in county tournament

The Poole "Fords", Arlington Heights entrant in the American Legion baseball tournament, took to the highways last Thursday night and stopped off at Taft high school diamond long enough to literally walk off with the ninth district title in their hands, 8-5.

This is the first time Arlington Heights has ever survived the battle for the district crown in Legion ball, and paves the way for the county trials that began this week.

Tuesday and Wednesday nights of this week the Arlington nine met its first opponent in the county meet, St. Mary's of Des Plaines. All Legion eliminations are determined in two-out-of-three series. If the Fords beat St. Mary's twice of the three games scheduled from Tuesday to Thursday, they will meet the winner of the Winnetka-Lane Tech game.

In winning the district championship, the Fords used Chuck Bracke to stop Portage Park. Chuck got off to a bad start, and at the beginning of the third the locals were trailing, 3-1.

In the third frame the Poole team touched off an explosion that netted three runs. Bob Wille walked, so did Miller, and Stroker singled, the runners holding up at second and third.

Vuglar and Bob Esp both struck out, but Les Happ hit a lusty triple to score the three runners. Berschet then lined out to the first baseman. Arlington scored four more runs in the sixth inning to clinch the victory.

All-American golf opens at Tam O'Shanter next week

Featuring the world's best golfers competing for the highest stakes ever offered, the 1946 All-American Golf Tournaments at Tam O'Shanter Country Club, Chicago, July 25-28 is well qualified for its title, "the world's richest golf tournament."

Sponsored by George S. May, head of the business engineering firm bearing his name, the All-American Golf Tournaments this year have set up $50,875 in prize money. $45,600 of this total will go to winning Professionals; $1,775 to Amateurs, and $3,500 to low scorers in the Women's Open in the three field Tournaments.

The tournaments got under way June 24 when amateur entrants from Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin and Indiana went through their 18-hole medal play qualifying round.

Mike Stolarik of Waukegan, Ill., former state amateur champion, and Richard E. McCreary Jr., Indianapolis, Ind., shot one-under-par 71s to lead a field of 74 golfers seeking the 20 qualifying places.

On July 8 professional entrants from Michigan, Illinois, Indiana and Wisconsin played their 18-hole medal play qualifying rounds. Jimmy Johnson of Farmington, Mich., led the 76 pros entered from the four states with a 35 out and 34 in for a three-under-par 69. Merle M. Smith, Battle Creek, Mich., was second best, with 35,35:70.

On July 18-19 amateur and women entrants took over the course for practice rounds, and July 22, an 18-hole medal play qualifying round will be held for amateur entrants from states other than Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin and Michigan. After the amateurs have teed off, qualified professionals will practice on the course.

On July 23 women entrants who were not exempted from qualifying will shoot their 18-hole medal play qualifying round. Qualified amateurs and qualified pros will be allowed practice rounds on the 23rd beginning at 11 a.m.

On July 24 professionals from the four states other than Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin and Michigan will have their 18-hole medal play qualifying round, after which qualified and exempted women entrants may tee off for practice between 11 a.m. and 12 noon, and qualified or exempted professionals and amateurs may take afternoon practice rounds.

On July 25-26 all qualifiers in the Professionals' Tournament, the Amateur and the Women's Open will play 18 holes. On Saturday and Sunday, July 27-28, the 100 low professionals and ties, the low 40 amateurs and ties, and the low 30 women and ties will play 18 holes each

In case of a tie in the Professionals' Tournament, a 36-hole playoff will be held Monday, July 29, and Tuesday, July 30. Ties in the Amateur or Women's Open, event will be played off in 18 holes starting at 2 p.m. on Monday, July 29.

In releasing the conditions of play for the 1946 All-American Tournaments, George S. May revealed that wearing a number, as in football or track, for the benefit of the spectator, will have a cash value to pro players. For example, first prize will be $10,500 if the winner wears a number — $9,082.50 if he does not.

Second innovation by George S. May this year is the elimination of the Men's Open tournament as an Open. Instead, this year pros and amateurs will play in separate tournaments. As in previous years, the Women's tournament will be an Open.

Third innovation of 1946 is reducing the field for the final 36 holes of the tournament. The low the low 40 amateurs and ties, and 100 professional players and ties, the low 80 women and ties will play the final two rounds.

Prizes offered professional players who wear numbers are: First, $10,500; Second, $5,000; Third, $3,500; Fourth, $2,500; Fifth, $2,000; Sixth, $1,750; Seventh, $1,400; Eighth, $1,200; Ninth, $1,100; Tenth, $1,000; Eleventh to Twentieth, $900 to $450, decreasing $50 each place; Twenty-first to Thirtieth, $350 each; Thirty-first to Fortieth, $250 each; Forty-first to Fiftieth (10 more places than in 1945), $150 each.

The Women's Open prize total of $3,500, includes $1,000 for first place (double that of 1945), and $500, $400, $300, $200, and $105 for the next five winners, ranging down to $15 for fifteenth place. The amateur tournament offer of $1,775 scaled down for the first twenty players (10 more than last year) will be given in war stamps.

In '41, with contestants competing for a total purse of $11,000, attendance at the Tam O'Shanter spectacle was 41,000. In '42, with prize money totaling $15,000, a crowd of 62,000 attended. In '43, with $10,000 in war bonds as prize awards, 67,000 persons saw the tournaments. In '44 for war bond prizes valued at $42,500, 85,000 people attended, and in '45, with prize money and war bonds at $60,233, an attendance of 105,000 was recorded.

This year it is estimated that nearly 200,000 people will attend the four-day event at the club which has had a $250,000 construction and improvement program under way to make it the nation's best golf club.

As if Tam O'Shanter were not now known as one of the trickiest of American links, this year George May plans to heighten the quality of the Tournaments by providing new obstacles.

On certain of Tam's duo-tee holes, for instance, the more difficult tee will be that used in the Tournaments. Moreover, if it looks like the contestants have solved the tougher tee shot, the tees will be used alternately. Second, pins on the greens will be placed in spots which May believes will best de-facilitate the educated putters of the entrants. In addition, it is rumored that the blades on Tam's mowers will be raised slightly before the tournament, to make fairways a trifle less rolling.

Parking facilities have this year been provided to more than fill the high expected demand for auto space. As in previous years, admission to the tournaments is $1 plus tax.

Park Lane trims Dunteman in twilight golf

In one of the feature matches of last Friday night Park Lane Laundry gave Dunteman Dairy a thorough trouncing by winning seven match points and advanced to third place in the Twilight league. Sieburg Drug took over second place by beating the Mar Johnson team.

An ideal evening produced some very fine golf. Len Arnold shot an even par 35 for low gross. Several others had gross scores of 38. Hank Dreyer came through with another fine game to take low net for the evening with a score of 31.

Glen Ellyn here

Bokelmann vs Schaefer this Sunday in Redwing game

Arlington vs Arlington will be in evidence Sunday afternoon on the Redwing ball field when Dick Bokelmann, former Arlington Heights high school pitcher, appears against the local nine in a contest with his Glen Ellyn mates. Dick was the outstanding pitcher for Northwestern university this past spring, and plenty of people will be on hand to see his arm test the bats of the local Redwings.

Old timers will remember a similar situation back in '28 when Art Dieball, an Arlington boy who was one of the best semi-pro pitchers around Chicago, appeared with Des Plaines. There was a great deal of rivalry at that time between these two towns.

Local fans are in for a real treat as the Redwings try for their twelvth victory of the year, with Bokelman and his mates attempting to deal the Redwings their third loss.

Beat Kenosha

Last Sunday Schaefer held Kenosha to three hits as the Redwings won, 3-1. In the eighth frame the Redwings notched two runs to break a 1-1 deadlock that existed from the second inning. Box score of last week's game, plus batting averages follow:

Redwings 3, Kenosha 1.

Arlington nine now in county tournament

The Poole "Fords", Arlington Heights entrant in the American Legion baseball tournament, took to the highways last Thursday night and stopped off at Taft high school diamond long enough to literally walk off with the ninth district title in their hands, 8-5.

This is the first time Arlington Heights has ever survived the battle for the district crown in Legion ball, and paves the way for the county trials that began this week.

Tuesday and Wednesday nights of this week the Arlington nine met its first opponent in the county meet, St. Mary's of Des Plaines. All Legion eliminations are determined in two-out-of-three series. If the Fords beat St. Mary's twice of the three games scheduled from Tuesday to Thursday, they will meet the winner of the Winnetka-Lane Tech game.

In winning the district championship, the Fords used Chuck Bracke to stop Portage Park. Chuck got off to a bad start, and at the beginning of the third the locals were trailing, 3-1.

In the third frame the Poole team touched off an explosion that netted three runs. Bob Wille walked, so did Miller, and Stroker singled, the runners holding up at second and third.

Vuglar and Bob Esp both struck out, but Les Happ hit a lusty triple to score the three runners. Berschet then lined out to the first baseman. Arlington scored four more runs in the sixth inning to clinch the victory.

Three rhythm kings join recruiting

Capt. John H. Barry, Commanding Officer, U. S. Army Recruiting Station, 102 N. Spring Street, Elgin, announced today that the three hottest rhythm kings, Harry James, Guy Lombardo and Xavier Cugat, are swinging their music on behalf of the Army Recruiting Service.

The three outstanding band-leaders will take their place on the Mutual Broadcasting System "Spotlight Bands" every Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights at 8:30 DST over the Mutual Broadcasting Network.

All-American golf opens at Tam O'Shanter next week

Featuring the world's best golfers competing for the highest stakes ever offered, the 1946 All-American Golf Tournaments at Tam O'Shanter Country Club, Chicago, July 25-28 is well qualified for its title, "the world's richest golf tournament."

Sponsored by George S. May, head of the business engineering firm bearing his name, the All-American Golf Tournaments this year have set up $50,875 in prize money. $45,600 of this total will go to winning Professionals; $1,775 to Amateurs, and $3,500 to low scorers in the Women's Open in the three field Tournaments.

The tournaments got under way June 24 when amateur entrants from Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin and Indiana went through their 18-hole medal play qualifying round.

Mike Stolarik of Waukegan, Ill., former state amateur champion, and Richard E. McCreary Jr., Indianapolis, Ind., shot one-under-par 71s to lead a field of 74 golfers seeking the 20 qualifying places.

On July 8 professional entrants from Michigan, Illinois, Indiana and Wisconsin played their 18-hole medal play qualifying rounds. Jimmy Johnson of Farmington, Mich., led the 76 pros entered from the four states with a 35 out and 34 in for a three-under-par 69. Merle M. Smith, Battle Creek, Mich., was second best, with 35,35:70.

On July 18-19 amateur and women entrants took over the course for practice rounds, and July 22, an 18-hole medal play qualifying round will be held for amateur entrants from states other than Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin and Michigan. After the amateurs have teed off, qualified professionals will practice on the course.

On July 23 women entrants who were not exempted from qualifying will shoot their 18-hole medal play qualifying round. Qualified amateurs and qualified pros will be allowed practice rounds on the 23rd beginning at 11 a.m.

On July 24 professionals from the four states other than Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin and Michigan will have their 18-hole medal play qualifying round, after which qualified and exempted women entrants may tee off for practice between 11 a.m. and 12 noon, and qualified or exempted professionals and amateurs may take afternoon practice rounds.

On July 25-26 all qualifiers in the Professionals' Tournament, the Amateur and the Women's Open will play 18 holes. On Saturday and Sunday, July 27-28, the 100 low professionals and ties, the low 40 amateurs and ties, and the low 30 women and ties will play 18 holes each

In case of a tie in the Professionals' Tournament, a 36-hole playoff will be held Monday, July 29, and Tuesday, July 30. Ties in the Amateur or Women's Open, event will be played off in 18 holes starting at 2 p.m. on Monday, July 29.

In releasing the conditions of play for the 1946 All-American Tournaments, George S. May revealed that wearing a number, as in football or track, for the benefit of the spectator, will have a cash value to pro players. For example, first prize will be $10,500 if the winner wears a number — $9,082.50 if he does not.

Second innovation by George S. May this year is the elimination of the Men's Open tournament as an Open. Instead, this year pros and amateurs will play in separate tournaments. As in previous years, the Women's tournament will be an Open.

Third innovation of 1946 is reducing the field for the final 36 holes of the tournament. The low the low 40 amateurs and ties, and 100 professional players and ties, the low 30 women and ties will play the final two rounds.

Prizes offered professional players who wear numbers are: First, $10,500; Second, $5,000; Third, $3,500; Fourth, $2,500; Fifth, $2,000; Sixth, $1,750; Seventh, $1,400; Eighth, $1,200; Ninth, $1,100; Tenth, $1,000; Eleventh to Twentieth, $900 to $450, decreasing $50 each place; Twenty-first to Thirtieth, $350 each; Thirty-first to Fortieth, $250 each; Forty-first to Fiftieth (10 more places than in 1945), $150 each.

The Women's Open prize total of $3,500, includes $1,000 for first place (double that of 1945), and $500, $400, $300, $200, and $105 for the next five winners, ranging down to $15 for fifteenth place. The amateur tournament offer of $1,775 scaled down for the first twenty players (10 more than last year) will be given in war stamps.

In '41, with contestants competing for a total purse of $11,000, attendance at the Tam O'Shanter spectacle was 41,000. In '42, with prize money totaling $15,000, a crowd of 62,000 attended. In '43, with $10,000 in war bonds as prize awards, 67,000 persons saw the tournaments. In '44 for war bond prizes valued at $42,500, 85,000 people attended, and in '45, with prize money and war bonds at $60,233, an attendance of 105,000 was recorded.

This year it is estimated that nearly 200,000 people will attend the four-day event at the club which has had a $250,000 construction and improvement program under way to make it the nation's best golf club.

As if Tam O'Shanter were not now known as one of the trickiest of American links, this year George May plans to heighten the quality of the Tournaments by providing new obstacles.

On certain of Tam's duo-tee holes, for instance, the more difficult tee will be that used in the Tournaments. Moreover, if it looks like the contestants have solved the tougher tee shot, the tees will be used alternately. Second, pins on the greens will be placed in spots which May believes will best de-facilitate the educated putters of the entrants. In addition, it is rumored that the blades on Tam's mowers will be raised slightly before the tournament, to make fairways a trifle less rolling.

Parking facilities have this year been provided to more than fill the high expected demand for auto space. As in previous years, admission to the tournaments is $1 plus tax.

Park Lane trims Dunteman in twilight golf

In one of the feature matches of last Friday night Park Lane Laundry gave Dunteman Dairy a thorough trouncing by winning seven match points and advanced to third place in the Twilight league. Sieburg Drug took over second place by beating the Mar Johnson team.

An ideal evening produced some very fine golf. Len Arnold shot an even par 35 for low gross. Several others had gross scores of 38. Hank Dreyer came through with another fine game to take low net for the evening with a score of 31.

Photographs of Mars

Much valuable work has been done with the great Lick refractor in planetary observations. At the last close approach of Mars 32 drawings of the planet and about 1,500 photographs were obtained, many of these with the aid of specially dyed plates. These are of great value in interpreting the nature of the changes that are continually taking place on the surface of the planet.

Vacation trips

Motor News, official publication of the Chicago Motor Club, printed the following story as a suggestion to members who are faced with the problem of amusing their children on long auto trips.

There are a number of ways to keep the children interested on your motor trip. Any number of games will help for a short time. One is to divide the car's passengers into teams and then see which team can count the most four footed animals on its side of the road during a fixed distance, such as 25 to 50 miles.

As this grows tiresome, you might sugest that white roses will be counted as two or three. Another suggestion is that teams lose their entire count every time the car passes a school house or church on their side of the road.

If you can stand the strain, have the count aply to all four-footed animals — horses, cows, sheep, mules, dogs and cats. Frequently this game is good for several hours, depending upon the animation that the adults can inject into it.

Then there's the "alphabet" game. For competing teams and try to build up a straight sequence of letters from "a" to "z" by watching the road signs that contain the printed words from which to lift the letters.

The first to reach "z" wins. Sometimes one team will be going along famously, and then suddenly be stymied by inability to locate a "j" or an "x" or some letter for ten or fifteen miles.

Tiring of this you might suggest keeping track of license plates. Watching for large numbered license plates is generally good for an hour or more.

A car radio is also a great help in keeping children quiet, especially if you can locate a good thriller program while you are driving. And comic books are a mainstay of many parents.

But no method will work for too long a time, so inject variation. It is also well to let the child get out and run off a little surplus energy by leg action.

If they grow hungry they are more quarrelsome, so prepare plenty of sandwiches or stop at a restaurant for ice-cream cones or a soda.

You're going to find, if you've not already, that adults also get a big kick out of some of these games as the car rolls merrily along. As a matter of fact not a few adults amuse themselves on motor tours by seeing who can form the best poker hand from state license plates.

Another adult "popular sport" is to determine (in your own mind) whether the man or woman is the "boss" of the farm you may be passing. If the farm buildings, other than the house, are in tip-top shape, the reasoning is that the man has the final word. If the house is spick and span and the yard beautified with flowers, trees and shrubs, the assumption is that the feminine members of the household are in charge of the place.

Civil service examinations

Librarians, library assistants and draftsmen are next on the list for probational appointments in the revived program of competitive examinations, according to information received today by Joseph A. Connor, regional director of the U. S. Civil Service Commission.

Announcements for the examinations are being posted throughout the country. Those who qualify and are called for appointment will be assigned in or near Washington, D. C. the announcement states.

Official announcements and application forms may be obtained from the regional office of the U. S. Civil Service Commission, 433 W. Van Buren st., Chicago 7, Ill., from first or second class post offices, or from the commission's central office in Washington, D. C.

Applications must be filed with the U. S. Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D. C., not later than August 12, 1946.

Light Movement

In empty space or through the air, light moves at the speed of 186,000 miles per second but when it strikes a transparent object it slows down, says the Better Vision institute. In ophthalmic glass its speed is reduced to about 120,000 miles per second. In this slowdown process the light rays are bent at an angle. By grinding the surface of the glass in a special manner, the bending of the light rays, and their direction in emerging from the lens, can be controlled.

'Holiday Heartbreaker' By Koret of California

PROMISE OF A HAPPY HOLIDAY sparkles in every line of this Dirndl-Combo. The casual cut implies that "California Look"... the Diamond Print cotton insures cool summer comfort. Adding her own loveliness to that of the garment is Miss Frances Ramsden, leading lady of Preston Sturges' "The Sin of Harold Diddlebock." Featuring a gently flowing dirndl skirt and an elasticized off-the-shoulder midriff, this Dirndl-Combo is a Stephanie Koret design, a Koret of California creation.

Veterans given scholarships to U. of I. and normal schools

Honorably discharged WW II veterans, who were residents of Illinois at the time of entry into service, and who possess all necessary entrance requirements, are entitled to a scholarship to any state normal university or teachers' college or the University of Illinois.

This law, approved May 1, 1945, is found in par. 30-5, chapter 122 of Illinois revised statutes. It also provides that honorably discharged non-residents who, at the time of entering service, were students at the University of Illinois or the normal schools, may complete their course of study without tuition or matriculation charges.

It was pointed out by Illinois Service Officer Walter S. Haynes at 41 South Prospect (above Walgreen's) in Park Ridge that this law will be of great benefit to veterans whose service was not long enough to secure four years of college under the G. I. Bill.

He also draws attention to another Illinois statute which provides similar scholarships to children of veterans who died in service, and who are also granted $150 per year as an education allowance, starting with the age of 16 and continuing, if in school, to their 22nd year.

'East Lynne' at Lake Zurich this week

The daddy of all the old-fashioned meller dramers, "East Lynne", will be the next offering at the New Lake Zurich Playhouse, Lake Zurich, playing Friday, Saturday and Sunday, July 19, 20, and 21. This modern streamlined version has been adapted from Mrs. Henry Wood's celebrated novel by Ned Albert with one thought in mind — to preserve the spirit of the old play and at the same time to provide the audience with more laughs than any other old-fashioned "Meller" has ever done.

Miss Lois June Nettleton will be seen in the production as Lady Isabel, the most tearful heroine to ever weep into a repertoire of hankies. Gerald E. McGonagill will appear as that rogue of all rogues, that heavily moustashed villain, Sir Francis Levison, with the manly bosomed hero, Archibald Carlyle, portrayed by William Harahan. The production will be staged by Bella D. Itkin and Henry Biedinger, with settings by Leonor Travis and a supporting cast including Will Haas, Lyle Sweet, Charles Erwin, Ronny Linder, Barbara Collentine, Betty LaPaix, Joan Xanders, Audrey Dineen, Ruthann O'Grady and Geraldine Page.

The following week end, July 26, 27 and 28, the playhouse will present Noel Coward's sparkling comedy, "Hayfever", directed by Bella D. Itkin.

Rare Wine

Before the war, owners of several German vineyards, when having a crop of unusual excellence, would produce, for sale to connoisseurs, a special wine which rarely exceeded 400 quarts in quantity as only the finest grapes were used. Among these wines was the famous "Trockenbeeren Auslese," a cask of which, containing this small quantity, has brought as much as $30,000.

Photographs of Mars

Much valuable work has been done with the great Lick refractor in planetary observations. At the last close approach of Mars 32 drawings of the planet and about 1,500 photographs were obtained, many of these with the aid of specially dyed plates. These are of great value in interpreting the nature of the changes that are continually taking place on the surface of the planet.

Vacation trips

Many ways to be busy while driving

Motor News, official publication of the Chicago Motor Club, printed the following story as a suggestion to members who are faced with the problem of amusing their children on long auto trips.

There are a number of ways to keep the children interested on your motor trip. Any number of games will help for a short time. One is to divide the car's passengers into teams and then see which team can count the most four footed animals on its side of the road during a fixed distance, such as 25 to 50 miles.

As this grows tiresome, you might sugest that white roses will be counted as two or three. Another suggestion is that teams lose their entire count every time the car passes a school house or church on their side of the road.

If you can stand the strain, have the count aply to all four-footed animals — horses, cows, sheep, mules, dogs and cats. Frequently this game is good for several hours, depending upon the animation that the adults can inject into it.

Then there's the "alphabet" game. For competing teams and try to build up a straight sequence of letters from "a" to "z" by watching the road signs that contain the printed words from which to lift the letters.

The first to reach "z" wins. Sometimes one team will be going along famously, and then suddenly be stymied by inability to locate a "j" or an "x" or some letter for ten or fifteen miles.

Tiring of this you might suggest keeping track of license plates. Watching for large numbered license plates is generally good for an hour or more.

A car radio is also a great help in keeping children quiet, especially if you can locate a good thriller program while you are driving. And comic books are a mainstay of many parents.

But no method will work for too long a time, so inject variation. It is also well to let the child get out and run off a little surplus energy by leg action.

If they grow hungry they are more quarrelsome, so prepare plenty of sandwiches or stop at a restaurant for ice-cream cones or a soda.

You're going to find, if you've not already, that adults also get a big kick out of some of these games as the car rolls merrily along. As a matter of fact not a few adults amuse themselves on motor tours by seeing who can form the best poker hand from state license plates.

Another adult "popular sport" is to determine (in your own mind) whether the man or woman is the "boss" of the farm you may be passing. If the farm buildings, other than the house, are in tip-top shape, the reasoning is that the man has the final word. If the house is spick and span and the yard beautified with flowers, trees and shrubs, the assumption is that the feminine members of the household are in charge of the place.

Civil service examinations

Librarians, library assistants and draftsmen are next on the list for probational appointments in the revived program of competitive examinations, according to information received today by Joseph A. Connor, regional director of the U. S. Civil Service Commission.

Announcements for the examinations are being posted throughout the country. Those who qualify and are called for appointment will be assigned in or near Washington, D. C. the announcement states.

Entrance salaries range from $1,954 to $5,905 a year for librarians; $1,954 to $2,644 for library assistants, and $1,954 to $3,397 for draftsmen.

Official announcements and application forms may be obtained from the regional office of the U. S. Civil Service Commission, 433 W. Van Buren st., Chicago 7, Ill., from first or second class post offices, or from the commission's central office in Washington, D. C.

Applications must be filed with the U. S. Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D. C., not later than August 12, 1946.

Light Movement

In empty space or through the air, light moves at the speed of 186,000 miles per second but when it strikes a transparent object it slows down, says the Better Vision institute. In ophthalmic glass its speed is reduced to about 120,000 miles per second. In this slowdown process the light rays are bent at an angle. By grinding the surface of the glass in a special manner, the bending of the light rays, and their direction in emerging from the lens, can be controlled.

'Holiday Heartbreaker' By Koret of California

PROMISE OF A HAPPY HOLIDAY sparkles in every line of this Dirndl-Combo. The casual cut implies that "California Look" . . . the Diamond Print cotton insures cool summer comfort. Adding her own loveliness to that of the garment is Miss Frances Ramsden, leading lady of Preston Sturges' "The Sin of Harold Diddlebock." Featuring a gently flowing dirndl skirt and an elasticized off-the-shoulder midriff, this Dirndl-Combo is a Stephanie Koret design, a Koret of California creation.

Veterans given scholarships to U. of I. and normal schools

Honorably discharged WW II veterans, who were residents of Illinois at the time of entry into service, and who possess all necessary entrance requirements, are entitled to a scholarship to any state normal university or teachers' college or the University of Illinois.

This law, approved May 1, 1945, is found in par. 30-5, chapter 122 of Illinois revised statutes. It also provides that honorably discharged non-residents who, at the time of entering service, were students at the University of Illinois or the normal schools, may complete their course of study without tuition or matriculation charges.

It was pointed out by Illinois Service Officer Walter S. Haynes at 41 South Prospect (above Walgreen's) in Park Ridge that this law will be of great benefit to veterans whose service was not long enough to secure four years of college under the G. I. Bill.

He also draws attention to another Illinois statute which provides similar scholarships to children of veterans who died in service, and who are also granted $150 per year as an education allowance, starting with the age of 16 and continuing, if in school, to their 22nd year.

'East Lynne' at Lake Zurich this week

The daddy of all the old-fashioned meller dramers, "East Lynne", will be the next offering at the New Lake Zurich Playhouse, Lake Zurich, playing Friday, Saturday and Sunday, July 19, 20, and 21. This modern streamlined version has been adapted from Mrs. Henry Wood's celebrated novel by Ned Albert with one thought in mind — to preserve the spirit of the old play and at the same time to provide the audience with more laughs than any other old-fashioned "Meller" has ever done.

Miss Lois June Nettleton will be seen in the production as Lady Isabel, the most tearful heroine to ever weep into a repertoire of hankies. Gerald E. McGonagill will appear as that rogue of all rogues, that heavily moustashed villain, Sir Francis Levison, with the manly bosomed hero, Archibald Carlyle, portrayed by William Harahan. The production will be staged by Bella D. Itkin and Henry Biedinger, with settings by Leonor Travis and a supporting cast including Will Haas, Lyle Sweet, Charles Erwin, Ronny Linder, Barbara Collentine, Betty LaPaix, Joan Xanders, Audrey Dineen, Ruthann O'Grady and Geraldine Page.

The following week end, July 26, 27 and 28, the playhouse will present Noel Coward's sparkling comedy, "Hayfever", directed by Bella D. Itkin.

Rare Wine

Before the war, owners of several German vineyards, when having a crop of unusual excellence, would produce, for sale to connoisseurs, a special wine which rarely exceeded 400 quarts in quantity as only the finest grapes were used. Among these wines was the famous "Trockenbeeren Auslese," a cask of which, containing this small quantity, has brought as much as $30,000.

Gems of thought

RIGHT OR MIGHT?

If mankind had wished for what is right, they might have had it long ago.

—William Hazlitt.

It has been said of the world's history hitherto that might makes right. It is for us and for our time to reverse the maxim and to say that right makes might.

—Abraham Lincoln.

God reigns, and will "turn and overturn" until right is found supreme.

—Mary Baker Eddy.

So let it be. In God's own might
We gird us for the coming fight
And, strong in Him whose cause is ours
In conflict with unholy powers,
We grasp the weapons He has given,—
The Light, and Truth, and Love of Heaven.

—Whittier.

Nothing but the right can ever be expedient, since that can never be true expediency which would sacrifice a greater good to a less.

—Whately.

No man has a right to do as he please, except when he pleases to do right.

—Simmons.

Wax Worm

There are two different species of moths known as wax moths, the larvae or caterpillar stages of which live on or in the wax deposited by the honey bee. So far as is known, the worms or larvae of these moths never attack woolen materials but live only on the wax produced by the honey bee.

Gems of thought

RIGHT OR MIGHT?

If mankind had wished for what is right, they might have had it long ago.
—William Hazlitt.

It has been said of the world's history hitherto that might makes right. It is for us and for our time to reverse the maxim and to say that right makes might.
—Abraham Lincoln.

God reigns, and will "turn and overturn" until right is found supreme.
—Mary Baker Eddy.

So let it be. In God's own might
We gird us for the coming fight
And, strong in Him whose cause is ours
In conflict with unholy powers,
We grasp the weapons He has given,—
The Light, and Truth, and Love of Heaven.
—Whittier.

Nothing but the right can ever be expedient, since that can never be true expediency which would sacrifice a greater good to a less.
—Whately.

No man has a right to do as he please, except when he pleases to do right.
—Simmons.

Wax Worm

There are two different species of moths known as wax moths, the larvae or caterpillar stages of which live on or in the wax deposited by the honey bee. So far as is known, the worms or larvae of these moths never attack woolen materials but live only on the wax produced by the honey bee.

Pacific

From out in the Pacific comes word of Wesley Schmoldt of Arlington Heights.

"I finally received the first copy of the town paper and was I the happiest guy in the world. I sat down and read every page from the want ads to 'Around the Corner'. I have been looking for the paper for so long that I almost gave up in despair. Thanks a million. My morale couldn't be lifted any higher than the home town paper lifted it.

"I am still working in the motor pool and like it a lot. I have been working days for the last two weeks and am really busy. There is nothing new to tell because the same things happen day in and day out.

"The rainy season has set in and we sure can notice it. The roads are so muddy, you can't drive over 10 miles an hour. I saw a nice accident tonight, just when I was done working, a 2½ foot flat bed truck tipped over going around a curve about 25 miles an hour. The flat bed slid about 35 feet before it hit the gully and tipped over. It was really something to see and showed me what can happen if you don't use your head.

"The rumor lately is that we are moving to Japan the 22nd of July. I wouldn't say for sure but just a rumor. I hope we do because this place is too wet."

His address is Pvt. W. Schmoldt 46041850, APO 323 Hq PASC, % PM, San Francisco, Calif.

Traveling about the Pacific is AMM 2c Bob Bruhnke of Arlington Heights. He reports that he recently met John Eiler of Arlington on Guam, and saw Jack Moodie of the Heights at Tsingtao, China. Bob and Jack were able to play a round of golf in China.

Bob has hopes of going to Pearl Harbor now, where he may be able to spend some time with Ray Voelker, whose family just joined him in Hawaii.

Texas

Now in Texas after previous service in which he visited Japan is Robert Moehling of Mt. Prospect. Bob has just enlisted in the army air corps for three years. His address is Pvt. Robert Moehling, RA 16216318, Sqd SB 21 Flt 673, 3543 RD AAF, BU MTC, San Antonio, Texas.

Italy

New Jersey

Private Glenn Long of East Maine who was home on furlough from Fort Lewis, Washington, left Sunday to report back to Camp Kilmer, N. J.

So. Carolina

Now in South Carolina is Donald Hutten of Bensenville. His address is HA 1c Donald E. Hutten, Rec. Sta., Navy Yard, Charleston, South Carolina.
